25X1 13. [redacted] [redacted] of ONE called to say that it had been determined that NIE 13-8-73 could be passed to the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy in its entirety. He will send copies to us for transmittal to the Committee. 25X1

25X1 15. [redacted] Talked with Jim Woolsey about the Secret Service reaction to the Washington Post article. He said if it became absolutely necessary the Secret Service could use the answer which we provided to Senator Proxmire's question but he would prefer if possible to have them wait until the material is released by the Committee.

25X1 16. [redacted] Talked with Ed Braswell, staff of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and briefed him on our plans to talk to the families of the Birmingham flyers. Braswell was fully in accord with our desires to do this and said he appreciated us giving him an alert.

25X1 17. [redacted] Talked several times during the day to Guy McConnell of the Subcommittee on Defense, Senate Appropriations, who said Jim Calloway would like us to revise Mr. Colby's letter of 27 July to Chairman McClellan on the subject of disclosure of intelligence budget figures. Calloway would like us to include the individual budget figures for CIA, NSA, DIA, Army, Navy, Air Force and State Department in the letter. I told McConnell I thought this would pose security problems if this letter is passed to various members of the Senate for their personal retention. McConnell said he would discuss this further with Calloway and be back in touch with me.
