New paragraph for DCID 1/14

11. Outside Activities

Individuals who hold or are being considered for SCI access approval shall have made available to them for reading the second and third paragraphs of the "Outside Activities" section of Annex A to DCID 1/14, and shall be instructed to report in writing to their security officer any existing or contemplated outside employment or activity that appears to meet the criteria of those paragraphs. Written reports must be submitted before beginning any outside employment or activity as defined in Annex A to DCID 1/14. In addition, initial or updated personal history statements must include details of outside employment or activities (as defined in Annex A to DCID 1/14). Investigation must cover the reported outside employment or activities.

Information concerning actual or planned outside employment or activities which would create a potential risk to the security of SCI shall be evaluated in accordance with the factors specified in Annex A to determine whether the circumstances create an unacceptable risk of unauthorized disclosure.

Annex A to DCID 1/14

Add to the list of matters which must be scrutinized by adjudicators (p. 7 of the DCID): "Involvement in outside activities"

Add a new section at the end of Annex A (p. 11 of the DCID package) captioned: "OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES"

"Involvement in non-US Government employment or activities which raise potential conflicts with an individual's responsibility to protect classified information is of security concern and must be evaluated by a security officer to determine whether the conflict is of such a nature that SCI access should be denied or revoked.

"Employment which must be reported includes compensated or volunteer service with any foreign national, with a representative of any foreign interest, or with any foreign, domestic or international organization or person engaged in analysis, discussion or publication of material on intelligence, defense or foreign affairs.

"Activities which must be reported include association with nationals of Communist countries or countries hostile to the United States; membership in organizations which have as members nationals of Communist countries or countries hostile to the United States when the membership involves contact with those nationals; and sponsorship of the entry of aliens into the United States.

"Adjudicators of new SCI access evaluations shall carefully consider whether an individual's outside employment or activities may pose a conflict with his or her security responsibilities that could result in his or her disclosing classified information to unauthorized persons. Any doubt as to an individual's willingness or ability to safeguard classified information shall be resolved by denying SCI access.

"Reports from individuals approved for SCI access or from other sources concerning outside employment or activities of security concern shall be evaluated by security officials to determine if SCI access should be continued. When an individual's outside employment or activity raises doubts as to the individual's willingness or ability to safeguard classified information, he or she shall be advised that continuing that employment or activity may result in withdrawal of SCI access, and be given an opportunity to discontinue. If the individual terminates the outside employment or activity of security concern, his or her SCI access approval(s) may be continued, provided that this is otherwise consistent with national security requirements."

Annex C to DCID 1/14 (or separate document superseding it)

Add the following:

All individuals nominated for or holding SCI access approval shall be notified initially and annually thereafter of their responsibility to report to their cognizant security officers outside employment or activities (described in DCID 1/14, Annex A) which could conflict with their duty to protect classified information from unauthorized disclosure. Any other outside employment or activities which could create real or apparent conflicts with their responsibility to protect classified information also must be reported. Individuals granted SCI access approvals shall be advised:

(1) whom they may consult to determine if particular outside employment or activity might be of security concern;

(2) of the need to exercise security caution in their activities as members of professional, commercial, scholarly or advocacy organizations that publish or discuss information on intelligence, defense or foreign affairs; and

(3) of their continuing obligation to submit for review any planned articles, books, speeches or public statements which contain or purport to contain SCI or information relating to or derived from SCI, as specified by the nondisclosure agreements which are a prerequisite for access to SCI.

DCID Annex A

SEXUAL CONSIDERATIONS

DCID 1/14 requires that, to be eligible for SCI access, individuals must be stable, of excellent character and discretion, and not subject to undue influence or duress through exploitable personal conduct.

Sexual promiscuity, prostitution and extra-marital relations are of legitimate concern to the SCI adjudicator where such conduct reflects a lack of judgment and discretion or when the conduct offers the potential for undue influence, duress or exploitation by a foreign intelligence service.

Deviant sexual behavior can be a relevant consideration in circumstances in which it indicates flawed judgment or a personality disorder, or could result in exposing the individual to direct or indirect pressure because of susceptibility to blackmail or coercion as a result of the deviant sexual behavior. Such behavior includes, but is not limited to, bestiality, fetishism, exhibitionism, necrophilia, nymphomania or satyriasis, masochism, sadism, pedophilia, transvestism, and voyeurism. Homosexual conduct is also to be considered as a factor in determining an individual's judgment, discretion, stability and susceptibility to undue influence or duress.

In examining cases involving sexual conduct of security significance, such as those described above, it is relevant to consider the age of the person, the voluntariness, and the frequency of such activities, the public nature and the recency of the conduct, as well as any other circumstances which may serve to aggravate or mitigate the nature ~~of~~ OR character of the conduct. A recommendation for disapproval is appropriate when, in view of all available evidence concerning the individual's history of sexual behavior, it appears that access to SCI could pose a risk to the national security.
