1. Military motor trucks, armored, were entering Sofia between 1 and 8 Mar 54. They were of seven tons capacity. They were for the use of the military (army) units stationed around the capital. Unfortunately, it has not been possible to get any estimate of their number. The trucks were by no means new.

2. They were stored in hangars, recently built along the side of Mount Vitosha, the big mountain to the south of Sofia.

3. Gasoline tank trucks were sent to the III Corps of the Bulgarian Army (at Asenovgrad, probably in the Belustika locality) on 23 Feb 54. These trucks were eight in number.
