

United States relief efforts in Pakistan

Photo summary of operations to date

November 17, 2005

Produced by Public Affairs Section, U.S. Embassy, Islamabad

U.S. Ambassador Karen Hughes, Undersecretary of State for Public Diplomacy and Public Affairs, speaks with media personnel in Muzaffarabad, Pakistan, on November 14, 2005. Secretary Hughes led a Presidential delegation of U.S. corporate leaders to survey areas damaged by the October 8th Earthquake. The corporate leaders have pledged to spearhead a private fundraising effort for earthquake victims.

Photo Credit: Photo by Barry Loo, U.S. Air Force

U.S. Ambassador Karen Hughes, Undersecretary of State, personally visits earthquake damaged areas. Secretary Hughes led a Presidential delegation of U.S. corporate leaders to areas affected by the October 8th Earthquake that struck the region. The corporate leaders have pledged to spearhead a private fundraising effort for earthquake victims.

Photo Credit: Photo by U.S. Department of State

U.S. Ambassador Karen Hughes, Undersecretary of State, meets with earthquake survivors at the U.S. Army 212th Mobile Surgical Hospital, in Muzaffarabad, Pakistan, on 14 November 2005. Secretary Hughes led a Presidential delegation of U.S. corporate leaders to Pakistan to survey earthquake damaged areas. The corporate leaders have pledged to spearhead a private fundraising effort for earthquake victims.

Photo Credit: Photo by U.S. Department of State

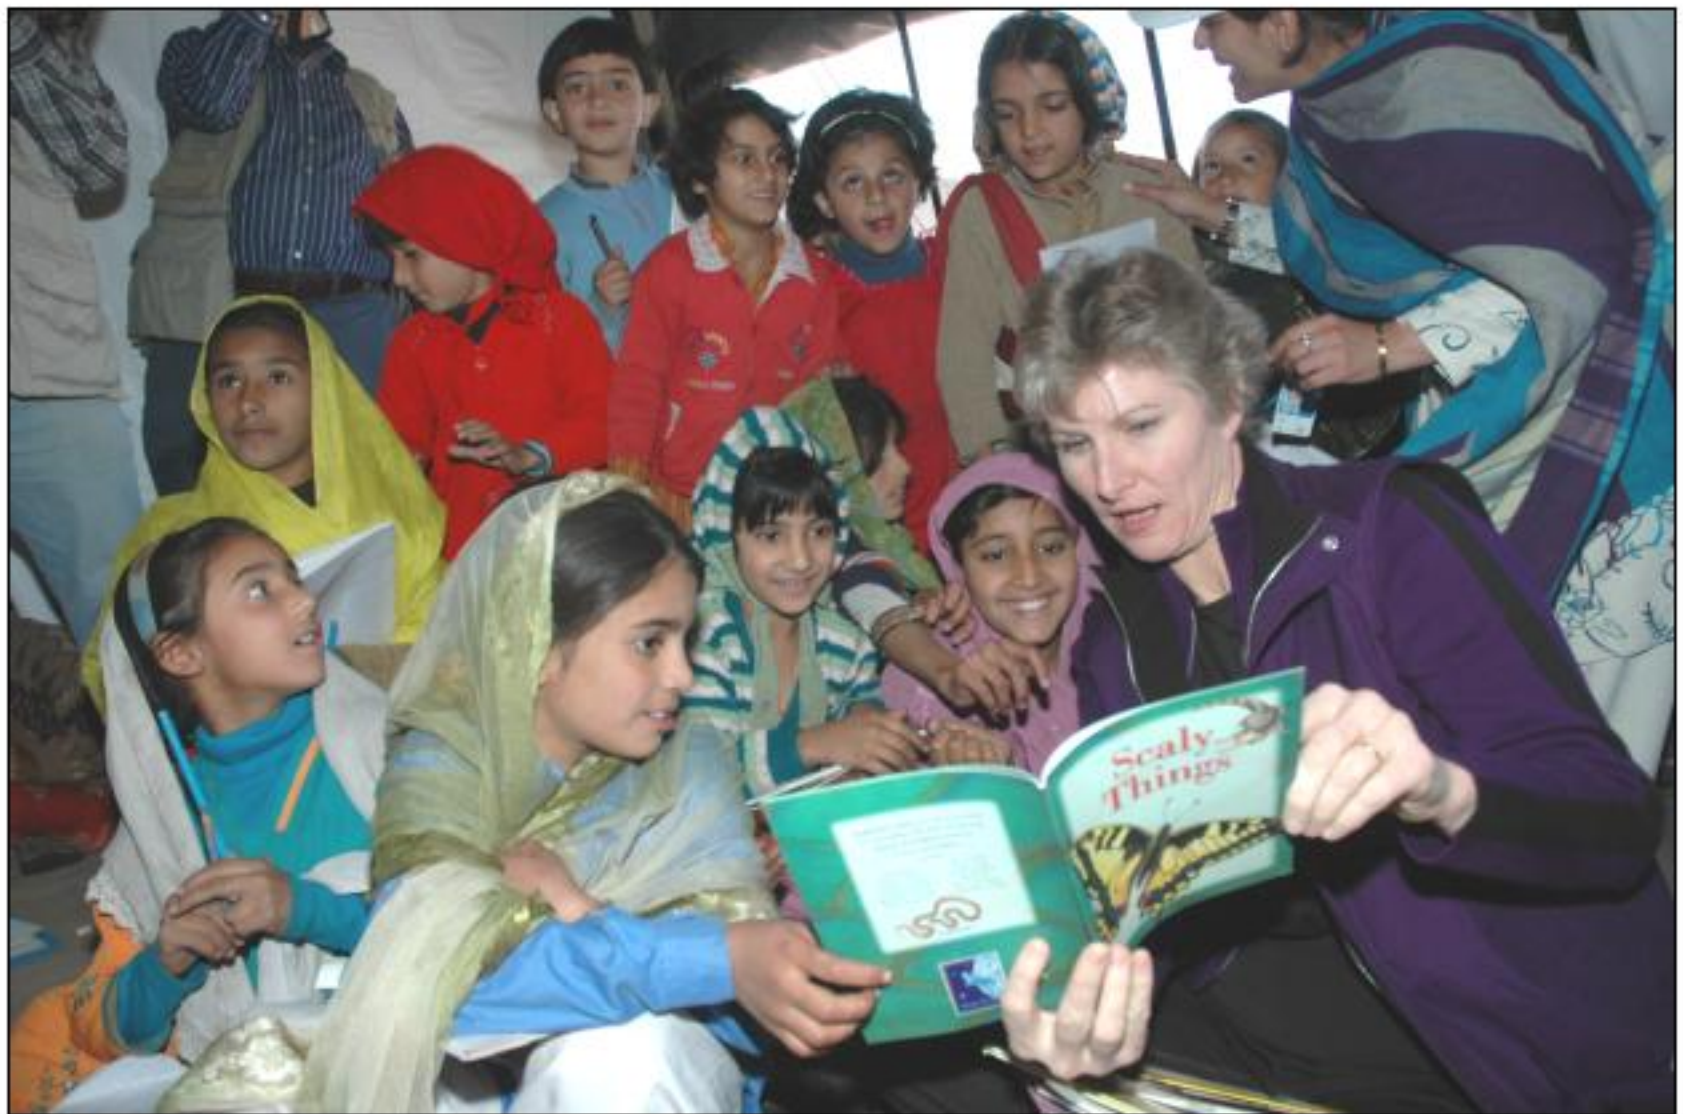

A member of the 212th Mobile Army Surgical Hospital plays with a young earthquake victim in Muzaffarabad, Pakistan. The U.S. government is participating in a multinational humanitarian assistance and support effort led by the Pakistani government to bring aid to victims of the devastating earthquake that struck the region October 8, 2005.

Photo Credit: Photo by Barry Loo, U.S. Air Force

A young earthquake survivor receives aid at the U.S. Army 212th Mobile Army Surgical Hospital in Muzaffarabad, on 11 November 2005. The U.S. government is participating in a multinational humanitarian assistance and support effort led by the Pakistani government to bring aid to victims of the devastating earthquake that struck the region October 8, 2005.

Photo Credit: Photo by Barry Loo, U.S. Air Force

U.S. Ambassador Karen Hughes, Undersecretary of State, reads to students at a girls tent school in Muzaffarabad, Pakistan, on 14 November 2005. Secretary Hughes led a Presidential delegation of U.S. corporate leaders to Pakistan to survey earthquake damaged areas. The corporate leaders have pledged to spearhead a private fundraising effort for earthquake victims.

Photo Credit: Photo by U.S. Department of State

U.S. Ambassador Karen Hughes, Undersecretary of State, holds an earthquake victim outside a tent village near Muzaffarabad, Pakistan, 14 November 2005. Secretary Hughes led a Presidential delegation of U.S. corporate leaders to Pakistan to survey earthquake damaged areas. The corporate leaders have pledged to spearhead a private fundraising effort for earthquake victims.

Photo Credit: Photo by U.S. Department of State

U.S. Ambassador Karen Hughes, Undersecretary of State, meets with Pakistan's Prime Minister Shaukat Aziz. Secretary Hughes led a Presidential delegation of U.S. corporate leaders to Pakistan to survey earthquake damaged areas. The corporate leaders have pledged to spearhead a private fundraising effort for earthquake victims.

Photo Credit: Photo by U.S. Department of State

Undersecretary of State Karen Hughes, U.S. Ambassador to Pakistan Ryan Crocker, and U.S. corporate leaders from Pfizer, Xerox, and UPS meet with Pakistan's President Pervez Musharraf to discuss earthquake relief efforts. Secretary Hughes led a delegation of U.S. corporate leaders to Pakistan to survey earthquake damaged areas. The corporate leaders have pledged to spearhead a private fundraising for Earthquake victims.

Photo Credit: Photo by U.S. Department of State