THE SOURCE EVALUATIONS IN THIS REPORT ARE DEFINITIVE. THE APPRAISAL OF CONTENT IS TENTATIVE. (FOR KEY SEE REVERSE)

1. Marshal Konstantin Rokossowski apparently is in poor health, inasmuch as he seeks "places of rest" near the Soviet frontier or in areas where Soviet 25X1 troops are quartered in Poland. He is known to be the frequent guest of Soviet Headquarters at Legnica (Liegnitz).

2. During the summer of 1953 a private one-story villa was renovated and luxuriously furnished for the Marshal's use. The villa is located on Lake Orzysz,
25X1 which is east of the city of Orzysz (Arys-R 54/A 66). The reconstruction work, under the direction of a Soviet general Sagana (fnu), aide-de-camp to Marshal Rokossowski, proceeded at an accelerated pace.

3. About three kilometers east of the eastern sector of the city of Orzysz, the lake of Orzysz narrows, in the northeast direction, to a width of about five-tenths kilometer. Along the southern bank of this canal-like narrows
25X1 is a narrow "wooded straits";[1] thereafter the lake broadens to a width of 200 meters, and in this portion of the lake is a small island called Wyspa Rozana (Rose Island), with irregular shore lines. A good road has recently been built over the straits, and a newly-constructed bridge connects the 25X1 island with the straits; near this bridge is located the above mentioned villa.

4. Two sentries, posted on the road built over the straits, guard the approach to the bridge, but near the villa itself there are no guards. A KBW (Corps of Internal Security) platoon, billeted on a farm situated on the northeastern shore of the island, is responsible for the Marshal's safety; the KBW platoon has two motorboats, armed with machine guns, which patrol the island day and night.

Comment: By "straits" it is assumed that informant means isthmus.
