This is UNEVALUATED Information

On 22 November 1954, no sentries, patrols or other movements were observed in the area of the Apetlon AAA camp. All roads near the installation were open to traffic. The former customs houses on the northwestern perimeter of Apetlon were still occupied by a major and about 20 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets, and a lieutenant of the medical service. Two large van-like trailers stood near the former customs houses. A device similar to a concave mirror of about one meter in diameter was seen turning and slewing on the roof of each trailer. 25X1

Comment. The Apetlon AAA Range has been vacant since the end of September 1954. The devices on the roofs of the trailers were possibly radar antennas. 25X1
