In the summer of 195[illegible], an airfield was located southwest of Turkeve (47°08' N, 20°44' E). The landing field extended about 800 meters from southwest to northeast and 400 meters from southeast to northwest. The northeastern edge of the field was about 200 meters distant from the south-western perimeter of Turkeve, the northwestern edge about 100 meters distant from the Turkeve-Mezotur (47°00' N, 20°38' E) road. Two hangars with vaulted roofs were located at the northeastern edge of the field. No other buildings were seen at the field. On the day of observation, 3 single engine monoplanes were parked in front of the hangars. About 20 Soviet soldiers were [illegible] near the parked aircraft. There was no air activity. Soviet soldiers, presumably stationed at the airfield, were quartered in the town. 25X1 25X1
