

(Poetic verses):

Send me a car, packed with explosives

Arm me with weapons, raise my spirits, and strengthen my heart

Then pray for me in my absence

And never disregard the steps that lead to the Gardens.

Accept from me my last farewells

As I proceed for a martyr's raid

From which I may not return

For I am setting up a scenario

Give me your blessings, O blessed souls

I am going to meet my Lord.

Those whom I knew in the path of Allah,

To them I announce this good news

.....
(Part of Musharraf's speech):

"The question is what interests does Pakistan have in the Afghanistan issue?"

"When a storm is blowing, one should lower his head and protect it, lest it blow away with the wind."

"What is the problem here?! We are all Muslims, and very emotional Muslims. Islam possesses its own strength. Even if we do not engage in any rituals, we get very emotional at heart. It is a very good thing."

"No one should be saying who is a good Muslim and who is a bad one!"

"Those who speak as I have spoken, they start saying that God knows where he has come from...is this some outsider? Or maybe he's not a Muslim. What's the matter?"
