MOROCCO, Casablanca - The leaders of the Arab League announced on Monday that the Arab League, the Organisation of African Unity and the Islamic Conference Organisation have requested the UN Security Council to convene an emergency session on Monday night. The leaders also called for a comprehensive solution to the Palestinian cause in line with resolution 242 and 338 which was formulated in a meeting of Arab heads of state on 15 November 1973 in Algiers.

The leaders said that the world community should not remain silent as the root causes of the current situation in the Middle East had not been addressed.

The leaders also review the situation in the Middle East during a meeting of Arab heads of state which will be held in Algiers on Thursday.

The leaders called for a meeting of the Arab foreign ministers to discuss the Palestinian and Arab-Israeli conflict.

The leaders warned that failure to reach a comprehensive solution to the Palestinian problem could result in a situation of war, which would affect the security and stability of the region.

The leaders also called for a meeting of the Arab League in Algiers to discuss the Palestinian problem and the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The leaders stressed the need to respond to the Arab peoples’ call for an independent and sovereign Palestinian state based on 1967 borders.

The leaders also called for the Arab states to give priority to the Palestinian cause.
