B. Current Objectives

Project AERODYNAMIC represents SR Division's only organized contact with a non-Russian Soviet people per se, a nationality group second in strength to the Russians. At this time of rising Eastern European nationalism (e.g. Rumania), it is considered vitally important to encourage whatever divisive inclinations exist among Ukrainians to exert maximum pressure on the Soviet regime internally and to shake Bloc solidarity further.

1. Through the continued support of ZP/UHVR (Foreign Representation/Ukrainian Supreme Liberation Council, a group of anti-Soviet Ukrainian emigres), with the Foreign Minister its principal agent, new and existing anti-Communist, Ukrainian nationalist aspirations in the Ukrainain SSR will be encouraged and exploited.

2. ZP/UHVR contacts with Soviet Ukrainians will be exploited to further the SR objective of recruiting Soviet citizens.

3. The gathering of intelligence on the USSR as a whole to satisfy United States needs will remain an ancillary objective of the project.

C. Changes

Authorization was requested in the project renewal for FY 1964 to permit the delegation of greater independent authority to ZP/UHVR in its contact operations and publishing activities. The group was so authorized in January 1964. Since then, the project operations officer has made one extended trip abroad and one of shorter duration, during which he organized a net of principal collaborators for use in contact operations in several European areas and recontacted and reevaluated other ZP/UHVR collaborators. In addition, the operations officer personally supervised contact operations against Soviets at the Soviet Trade Fair in Genoa and those Soviets appearing in the Scandinavian countries with the Soviet Ukrainian Ensemble of Opera and Ballet.

D. Intelligence Production

ZP/UHVR contacts with Soviet citizens and debriefings of recent arrivals from the Soviet Union produced much information on the social, political and economic situation in the UKSSR. From these, there were nine disseminations. Individuals connected with the KGB continue to be identified as a result of ZP/UHVR contact operations. In addition, during FY 1964, there were eight regional newspapers and four Soviet legal documents not otherwise obtainable in the West made available through ZP/UHVR sources.

E. Effectiveness

1. Effectiveness of ZP/UHVR contact operations can best be measured by the character and extent of the contacts rather than by the number of contacts made. There was, however, a marked increase in FY 1964 over FY 1963 in the number of contacts made (i.e., 257 as compared to 67 in 1963). Considering that Soviet tourists in the West have reportedly decreased, this represents a great effort on the part of ZP/UHVR to intensify its contact operations. Of the 257 Soviet citizens with whom contact was established, many were repeated contacts between professionals, students and educators, during which 181 books published in the West (almost exclusively Ukrainian-language) were handed to the Soviets, plus 37 copies of ZP/UHVR's chief publication, Suchasnist (The Present), 50 bulletins and several Western newspapers. In addition, 13 books were handed to Polish citizens of Ukrainian birth travelling in the West for transmitting to Soviet Ukrainians. Fifty of the 181 books, including 3 volumes of the Ukrainian encyclopedia published by the emigration and attacked by Soviet authorities, were handed personally to Soviet citizens in the Soviet Union by one ZP/UHVR contact, a Ukrainian emigre who was in the Soviet Union as a guide with an American technical exhibit. There was an additional number of books handed Soviets under similar circumstances by another contact but final figures are not yet available. Additional large numbers of books and pamphlets were placed in areas frequented by Soviet citizens at Soviet exhibits in Western cities. Three Western travellers, although their travel was not sponsored by the ZP/UHVR, supplied names of and detailed biographical information on Soviet citizens involved in alleged underground nets in the Ukraine. Although it is suspected that provocation may have been intended and nothing is being planned operationally to pursue these contacts immediately, it is believed that there is a sincere element involved. The cases are therefore not being written off completely, and letter contact with several of these Soviet citizens is being maintained.

ZP/UHVR contacts who travelled to the Soviet Union carried out six poems unpublished in the Soviet Union for publication in the West.

2. Although ZP/UHVR does not have a mass membership as do some other emigre organizations, and hence cannot direct those specific campaigns such as letter writing, it has a large number of sympathizers with whom rapport is such that personal correspondence or information of interest received from friends and relatives in the Soviet Union is made available to it. The information is utilized in the group's propaganda effort, much of which is played back to the UkSSR in its Information Bulletin and in its other publications. ZP/UHVR also has the opportunity to direct going correspondence between Ukrainian emigres and their Soviet relatives and friends when the contact appears to be of operational potential. These contacts involve transmittal to Soviet citizens of books and clippings from Western journals and newspapers and an exchange of ideas and opinions, particularly in the literary field.

F. Evaluation of Publications

1. ZP/UHVR publications have continued to pursue the major project objective of encouraging and exploiting anti-Communist, Ukrainian nationalist aspirations. Evidence that the literature published by the group continues to plague Soviet authorities, particularly as it provokes nationalist sentiments, appears periodically in the Soviet press and in public statements. A pocket book published by the group in 1961 not only provoked recent controversy in the Soviet press, but an attempt was made in late 1963 via a Soviet U. N. official in New York to redefect the author, whose son lives in the Soviet Union. The ZP/UHVR Information Bulletin, which is directed specifically at the Soviet Ukrainian audience, is read regularly by the project case officer, who discusses its contents with the principal agent.

2. ZP/UHVR's chief publication, Suchasnist, and the books published in FY 1964, are widely considered of a high caliber. Suchasnist has been the target of a number of attacks in the Soviet press and at least one attempt has been made by Soviet officials in Germany to redefect the chief editor of this publication, whose name commands great respect in both Soviet and Free World Ukrainian literary circles. The monthly organ of another Ukrainian emigre organization, Ukrainskyy Samostiynyk, partially supported from Project AERODYNAMIC funds, is a target of frequent attacks by the Soviet Society for Cultural Exchanges with Compatriots Abroad.

3. Of the five books published by ZP/UHVR in FY 1964, 1,532 copies were mailed to Soviet citizens in the USSR. Eighty books published in the West were mailed to Ukrainians living in Poland, six to Czechoslovakia and nine to Hungary and Rumania. The majority of the books mailed to Poland are carried into the UkSSR by Soviet citizens travelling between Poland and the Ukraine. Those not finding their way to the UkSSR are available to Soviet Ukrainian students studying in Poland. In addition, 14,804 copies of pamphlets published by ZP/UHVR were mailed to Soviet citizens and 259 copies to Ukrainians living in the satellite countries. This figure includes the Information Bulletin, directed specifically at Soviet Ukrainians, and various pamphlets which dealt with topics of interest to Ukrainians. One pamphlet was a facsimile of a Western newspaper editorial which was a reply to an open letter published in the Soviet Ukrainian press and signed by Soviet Ukrainian cultural leaders regarding their desire to participate in the dedication of the monument to the Ukrainian poet laureate Taras Shevchenko in Washington, D. C. The official reply from the Ukrainian emigre Shevchenko Committee never was published by the Soviet press. This pamphlet, therefore, should be of great interest to Soviet Ukrainians.

4. The books recently published by ZP/UHVR have been very favorably received in the emigration. One in particular, Lehkosynya Dal', is considered of great propaganda value as it contains the works and memoirs of Soviet Ukrainian Communists who became disillusioned with Moscow, particularly Mykola Khvylovyi, whose writings continue to attract Soviet and emigre readers but which are banned by the Soviet regime. 3,420 copies of the books have been sold in the West at prices ranging from 75¢ to $3.50, and orders continue to be received.

A senior headquarters case officer not connected with the project regularly reads all ZP/UHVR publications and discusses their propaganda value and their professionalism with the project case officer. Pertinent propaganda guidances are discussed with the principal agent. A short description of ZP/UHVR publications, showing costs, and disposition is attached.

5. ZP/UHVR issued a formal appeal to the Secretary General of the United Nations and a special press release regarding a bread shortage in the Ukraine. It also released a statement exposing involvement of the Central Committee of the USSR in the writing and publication of the book Judaism Without Embellishment, which the Soviet regime put out under the cover of the Soviet Ukrainian Academy of Sciences. An English translation of the book is being prepared under ZP/UHVR auspices and the translation might be published by ZP/UHVR. The group also has arranged for a French version of the book through its Paris collaborators, and present plans call for publication in the name of the collaborators' study group in conjunction with Paris Le Monde. Both the English and French version would, of course, carry appropriate prefaces for the purpose of doing the Soviets the greatest possible damage. The Brussels and Paris Stations have ordered 1,000 copies of the French version for their immediate purposes.

A series of round-table conferences in the New York area have been conducted by ZP/UHVR in which distinguished Americans of Ukrainian and Jewish descent have participated to discuss Ukrainian-Jewish relations and to expose anti-semitism in the USSR. ZP/UHVR has been attacked for this activity by Soviet sources.

G. Problems

No cover or control problems were encountered in FY 1964.

I. Interagency Coordination

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is informed of contacts made with ZP/UHVR members and their collaborators by Soviet diplomatic and other personnel. The bureau also has been informed about ZP/UHVR mailing operations against Soviet citizens living in the United States.

The U. S. Department of State is aware of CIA support of ZP/UHVR.

J. Plans

It is planned to continue ZP/UHVR publications now in existence and the publication of special books and pamphlets, and to continue the dissemination of such publications to Soviet citizens via whatever channels are available. Contact operations against Soviet citizens, utilizing ZP/UHVR collaborators and sympathizers, will continue as a prime effort under the project with the present agent operations officer involved almost exclusively in this activity. The project case officer will continue to encourage the ZP/UHVR leadership to assume more and more responsibility for operational initiative and economies, although CIA will continue to retain complete control over the group's activities.

K. Costs

In the FY 1964 renewal request, in paragraph 2, it was stated that a flat CIA subsidy would be extended to the group, divided into two categories, (1) a specific and set amount for personnel and administrative costs, which amount was to remain stable; and (2) an amount specifically and exclusively designated for contact operations which would be subject to change depending on the increase or decrease of activity in the field of contact operations. Under costs for the FY 1965 renewal an effort was made to reflect as true a breakdown as possible between the administrative costs and contact operations. Although $ [redacted] was estimated for administrative costs in the FY 1964 renewal, the FY 1965 renewal shows actual total administrative costs of $ [redacted]. Allowing for a 10 percent increase in salaries contemplated for employees in the New York cover company office during 1964, it is felt that the amount of $ [redacted] would be more realistic for the administrative category which includes all costs of publication and mailing operations. $ [redacted] is being estimated for FY 1965 contact operations. This is an increase of $ [redacted] over the amount actually spent for contact operations in FY 1964 and will allow for the operation officer's contemplated travel to South America and Australia, in addition to a trip to Western Europe, to recontact ZP/UHVR representatives and organize nets of ZP/UHVR collaborators in those areas for use in contact operations. Since financial allotments to the cover company must be made sufficiently in advance to allow for transfer of the money from the funding cover mechanism to the cover company bank account, and since the cover company bookkeeping for cover purposes is based on a calendar year, the amount of $ [redacted] shown as obligated by headquarters for FY 1964 on page 1 of this renewal request includes $ [redacted] which is still unexpended by the cover company.

As a companion to Panorama Naynovishovi Literaturny v URSS, this volume has a ready market. The author's name commands respect in Soviet literary circles.

Number of copies sold and sale price: 160 @ $350 = $560.00

Short Description and evaluation:

This is a 149-pages (8-3/4" x 5-3/4") paper back book containing the memoirs and works of former Ukrainian Communists who became disillusioned with Moscow. The book has great propaganda value because of the reputation of the writers whose works and memoirs it contains. The book's chief personage, the late Mykola Khvylovyy, continues to attract young readers both in the Ukraine and abroad. His writings are banned in the Soviet Union. It is expected that Soviet reaction to the book will come. Emigre press reviews to date have been favorable. The Slavic Review has asked Professor George Shevelov of Columbia University to write a review of this book. The review is expected to appear in the next issue of Slavic Review.

Short Description and evaluation:

This is a 5" x 7 1/2", 364 page, paper back publication on the subject. Although this book contains material published in the Soviet Union, some of the material has since been condemned by the regime. Also, because of the limited original publications, the material is no longer available to Soviet Ukrainians. The author's commentary in the foreword would not be published in the Soviet Union. The title of this book has become virtually a household word among Ukrainians in the free world. There has been nothing but laudatory reviews of it to date in the emigre press and more recently in the Polish, Kultura published in Paris. Particular interest in this book has been noted among the younger generation of Ukrainians in the West. Orders for the book continue to come from various cities. Ukrainian newspapers and periodicals in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, France and Australia have carried reviews of the book praising the editor's selection and his foreword. Soviet press reactions have not appeared to date.

Short Description and evaluation:

This editorial was considered one of the best answers to the now famous letter published in the Soviet, Literaturna Ukraina. While it did not reject outright the desire of the cultural leaders to come to Washington for the unveiling of the Sheychenko statue, it did, in a polite way, point out the uselessness of such a trip so long as it would be made under "patronage" of Moscow authorities. The facsimile of this editorial should, when received by Soviet citizens, evoke some controversy since the Soviet press failed to publish any of the emigre reactions.

Reprints of letter signed by 62 Ukrainian emigres.

This reply, signed by 62 prominent Ukrainian emigres, was favorably received in the emigration. The Communist, Ukrainian News in New York, published a neutral comment. There has been no response as yet in the Soviet press. Luka Kyzya, Soviet Ukrainian delegate to the United Nations personally told a ZP/UHVR contact that he considered the reply very realistic.
