[redacted]

[redacted]

[redacted] Khrushchev expressed optimism regarding the possibility of achieving at least a limited test-ban agreement with the United States and the United Kingdom. Khrushchev contended that while the attitude of the West is now encouraging, world opinion must continue to agitate for a test-ban agreement. He also explained his proposal for a nonaggression pact and pleaded for support for such a pact from all "peace-loving countries.]

25X1

[redacted] Khrushchev has on several occasions [redacted] [redacted] explaining Soviet policy on such issues as Berlin, Congo, and nuclear testing.

[redacted] he again affirmed his desire to meet with Nehru at a mutually convenient time to discuss various world problems.]

Morocco: The arrest on 16 July of some 130 leaders of the leftist National Union of Popular Forces (UNFP) in Casablanca is probably designed to undercut the opposition's chances in the nationwide municipal elections scheduled for 28 July.

The detainees reportedly include former Vice Premier Bouabid and a number of candidates elected in May to Morocco's prospective first parliament. They were charged with 'plotting to create agitation.' These arrests follow extensive government harassment of the rightist Istiqlal Party.

The immediate effect of these pressure tactics may be a victory of the royalists' party on 28 July. In the long run, these tactics will probably serve to increase the isolation of King Hassan and the group around him.
