Dear Max:

Reference your letter inviting me to participate in a politico-military war game involving a revolt in East Germany on the 3rd, 4th and 5th of March, I am happy to accept as a member of the Blue Senior Policy Team.

I wish to designate Mr. Bronson Tweedy, Chief of our Eastern European Division, as a member of the Red Senior Policy Team.

25X1 of Mr. Tweedy's office is designated the contact point. I understand he is already in touch with Col. McClure.

Sincerely,

/S/ John

CHAIRMAN OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF
WASHINGTON

31 January 1964

Dear John:

I wish to extend an invitation to you to participate in another politico-military war game, this time involving a revolt in East Germany. The game, entitled EPSILON I-64 (U), will serve as a vehicle for examining United States plans and policies for such a revolt and for considering the courses of action available to this country in such a situation, acting either independently or in consort with Allies.

I am also extending invitations to senior officials of the White House Staff, Departments of State and Defense, Joint Chiefs of Staff, SHAPE and the Military Services.

I hope that you can join me as a member of the Blue Senior Policy Team for this game. The team will meet for approximately one hour, at 1700 hours, on 3, 4 and 5 March, in Room 1D-957, the Pentagon. If you are unable to attend, would you designate a senior representative?

In addition, we would like a second senior official from your organization to participate as a member of the Red Senior Policy Team, as well as four other individuals, knowledgeable in European affairs, to participate as members of action level teams.

CONFIDENTIAL - NOFORN

It would be helpful if you would also name a point of contact in your agency for the coordination of further details with Lt Colonel Paul J. McClure, Jr., of the Joint War Games Agency of the JCS. Colonel McClure can be reached on Code 11, Extension 79892.

Sincerely,

MAXWELL D. TAYLOR
Chairman
Joint Chiefs of Staff
