Dear Keith:

Since my note of 18 May to you, one of our [redacted] representatives has met with [redacted] to review the possibilities for his employment with us. However, it develops that Mr. [redacted] has been offered a position of substantially higher salary than we would be able to offer him and it is doubtful that we would have a requirement in his field to compete with that opportunity in the foreseeable future. Nevertheless we will maintain his application in our active file should his situation change.

Mr. [redacted] asked us to express his best wishes to you and I am glad to do so. I appreciated your bringing him to my attention.

Sincerely,

Dear Keith:

Since my note of 10 May to you, our [redacted] recruitment representative has met with Mr. [redacted] to review the possibilities for his employment with us. However, it develops that [redacted] has been offered a position of substantially higher salary than we would be able to offer him and it is doubtful that we would have a requirement in his field to compete with that opportunity in the foreseeable future. Accordingly, we are not keeping his file under continuing consideration.
