Dear Mr. Kirkpatrick:

I want to extend to you again my deepest appreciation for your truly outstanding address to our Global Strategy Discussions participants. Your forthright discussion of the real threat and challenge we face today provided your audience with the solid foundation so essential for building a solid and meaningful strategy. You did a superb job in laying this foundation.

We are deeply grateful to you for sharing with us your valuable time and vast knowledge. Your contribution will long be remembered as a high point of the Discussions, and as a prime factor in making them so very successful.

It was indeed an honor and a privilege to welcome you back to our platform.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. McCone,

STAT

I take great pleasure in expressing thanks in behalf of the Office and in my own behalf for the splendid lecture given by [redacted] CIA Briefing Officer, on the "Role of the CIA" on May 24th.

STAT

The number and incisiveness of the questions posed by the officers and civilian personnel who attended, coupled with their very complimentary remarks made over the days that followed, bear witness to the sympathetic and favorable impression [redacted] made as a representative of your organization.

With our sincere appreciation for [redacted] availability,

Dear Mr. McCone:

STAT It is a pleasure to express the appreciation of the U.S. Army Intelligence School for a highly beneficial period of instruction by [redacted] at Fort Holabird on 28 May 62 to members of the Senior Foreign Officers Intelligence Course.

STAT [redacted] lecture was very well received by this group of foreign officers. The students were afforded a keen insight into the problems of economic intelligence as well as the value of this subject in the overall production of strategic intelligence. The specific examples pertaining to the Soviet Union and Communist China, which the speaker cited to illustrate various aspects of his talk, were of particular interest.

Thank you for making this presentation possible and please convey to [redacted] the sincere appreciation of the Staff and Faculty.

STAT

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. McCone:

Please accept our appreciation for your personal efforts in making the recent Washington educational trip of selected cadets of the Debate Council and Forum such an outstanding success. The briefing on the Central Intelligence Agency given by [redacted] was one of the highlights of the trip.

STAT

Cadet reaction to the entire trip was very enthusiastic. This opportunity for personal observation of the workings of our national government did a great deal to augment their classroom instruction. They value highly your contribution to their visit.

Sincerely,
