Dear Mr. Booth:

Thank you very warmly for your generous comments concerning my talk before the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. It is indeed gratifying to learn from you that my speech was so well received.

I am delighted to get the excellent picture which you were so good to send me. I might add that it was a real pleasure for me to participate in your program.

With kindest regards.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Dulles:

Thank you very much for speaking at the International Luncheon during our 46th Annual Meeting. We believe it was just about the most successful such meeting we have ever had. Your excellent contribution was a major factor in making this so.

I can think of few things more important than that our businessmen know and understand the policies of internal and external economic expansion which the Soviets are carrying out under forced draft. You equipped your audience to go home and carry on their job of community leadership with new understanding of the problem of our national survival. Just to thank you is trite. We respect you for a service well done.

All of us here at the National Chamber genuinely appreciate the time and effort you devoted to preparing and delivering your message. We also appreciate your interest in the Chamber's work, and your fine spirit of cooperation.

Incidentally, you may enjoy having a copy of the picture we took of you with Messrs. Canham, Monasterio, and Pybus.

With all good wishes,

Cordially yours,
