Mr. Allen W. Dulles
Director of Central Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency
2430 E. Street
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Dulles:

I am taking the liberty of enclosing a number of charts from a master's thesis by Jack H. Gore on a comparison between the economic rates of growth of India and mainland China during their first five-year plans. The results are not of a type to afford too much comfort to the free world. However, they seem to me to be based on the best available quantitative data (United Nations).

I would be glad to send a copy of this thesis to you in the event that one of your staff wishes to examine it. The only request that we would make is that your expert give us the benefit of his criticism.

Yours sincerely,

Julian S. Duncan
