

20 October 1958

Dear Eustace:

Many thanks for your note of 16 October.

I am getting Parkinson's book and enclose a couple of copies of my talk at the Bar Association.

It was good to see you and the others from the firm.

Faithfully,

Dear Allen:

First, a line to tell you that Professor Parkinson's book is entitled "Political Institutions", not "Democracy".

Second, if you could have your secretary send me a copy of your most interesting address last night I should like very much to have it, as the basic question that you raised, of how to strengthen democracy in the newly self-governing countries, is certainly one of the most important problems before us.

Faithfully,

Eustace
