Dear Senator Jackson:

In response to your request for a report on the national policy making machinery of the Soviet Union and Communist China, I am enclosing tentative outlines for your consideration. I suggest that it might be useful for the Subcommittee staff and representatives of the Agency to meet informally to discuss these outlines. In this way I believe we can produce the most useful report for the Subcommittee.

Your letter of August 5 has been received and I shall await your call.

Sincerely,

SIGNED

Mr. Allen W. Dulles, Director

2430 E Street
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Dulles:

As you probably know, I am Chairman of a Senate Subcommittee on National Policy Machinery which has started a study of the adequacy of present government mechanisms for formulating and executing national security policy. We have worked out an agreed basis for handling the study with the President, as indicated in the enclosed exchange of letters and in my statement on the Floor of the Senate on July 14, 1959.

I would like to let you know something about our plans at this early stage and it would be most helpful to me to get your counsel and advice before we get fully underway.

I shall plan to call your office within the next few days in hopes that we can work out a mutually satisfactory time for a talk.

With best wishes.

Sincerely yours,

Henry M. Jackson, U.S.S.

The Hon. Allen W. Dulles
Director,
Central Intelligence Agency
2430 E St. NW
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Dulles:

Following initial conversations between the staff of the Subcommittee on National Policy Machinery and Mr. [redacted] of CIA, I am writing to ask your assistance on a subject of great interest to the Subcommittee.

Specifically, we would be most grateful if you would authorize the preparation of reports on present-day organization for policy making and execution in the Soviet Union and Communist China. We believe that such studies may prove useful as background for our own consideration of proposed changes in our system.

The Subcommittee would like very much to be able to publish comparative studies of our own and the Communist systems. Therefore, in addition to a classified report for the use of the Subcommittee, we would like to have an unclassified version which could be published. I might add that there is no reason why this latter version need be attributed to any specific source. Naturally, the more material that can be included in the unclassified report, the more satisfactory it will be for our purposes.

We will appreciate greatly your cooperation on this project. I look forward to the opportunity of discussing the work of the Subcommittee with you personally in the very near future.

With best wishes.

Sincerely yours,

Henry M. Jackson, U.S.S.
