

this is the reason for most of his animosity concerning the agency. Bennett suggests that Dworshak be contacted as soon as possible by some top official, preferably from the White House, and that this initial contact be followed up by several more careful briefings. Senator Bennett states that if contacts with Dworshak are delayed for three or four months, it will be too late and he may cause the agency considerable difficulty.

4. Prior to any attempt to make an appointment with Senator Dworshak, I recommend that I make an appointment with Senator Bennett to discuss his comments to [] in more detail. Depending on the results of this discussion appropriate plans could be developed for requesting either an appointment with Senator Dworshak or arranging a briefing here.
