Dear St. John:

It was a pleasure to see your son last week. I hope to get hold of him again soon and possibly bring him together with young Allen on one of the days when he is out of the hospital.

Many thanks for suggesting he make the call.

Sincerely,

Allen W. Dulles

Mr. James Graham

Dear Jim:

Thanks for your phone call this afternoon.

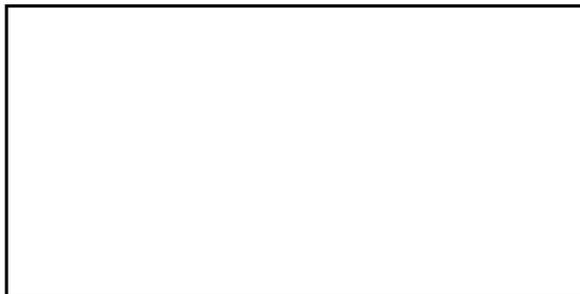

Actually we did not plan to have a full dress study group meeting to consider the question of the blast furnaces. Rather we had tentatively set up a session for six or eight persons, most of whom would have been technical experts on steel manufacturing, and we had intended a discussion of perhaps two hours. But it seemed to us essential to have an authoritative statement of the factual situation on the basis of which expert technical judgments might be made.

As you requested, we shall drop the whole thing immediately. This causes us no embarrassment, as we had not yet issued any invitations. I hope that we can be helpful on some other occasion.

My best wishes.

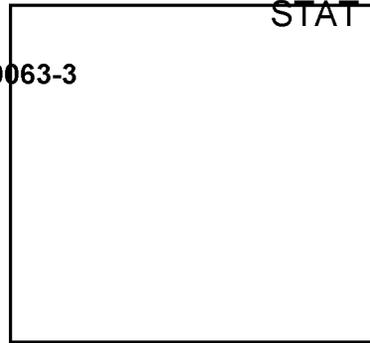

Sincerely yours,

William Henderson
Assistant Executive Director
