The Honorable Franz Josef Strauss
Bundeminister fuer Verteidigung
Bonn, Germany

Dear Mr. Strauss:

Your expression of condolence, both as conveyed to me through General Tempelhoff and in your kind letter, is deeply appreciated. You are aware, I know, that my brother's spirit was especially strengthened during his last productive years by the rebirth of creative German energy in freedom and honor. I am thus particularly grateful at this time of grievance for the sympathies of a leading spokesman for the vigorous generation of young German leaders who have played and will play an increasingly important role in maintaining the solidarity of the West against Communist aggression.

Dr. h.c. Franz Josef Strauss

Bonn
2 June 1959

Dear Mr. Dulles:

I would like to tell you again how much the passing of your brother has affected me and how much all those who knew him officially or privately are shaken by the news, even though it came not unexpectedly. We shall all remember Mr. John Foster Dulles as a friend of the Germans and a brave and upright fighter to keep peace and freedom, [a man] whom the free peoples of the world have to thank for so much and whose name is still today linked with the hopes of the enslaved nations.

I should like to take this opportunity to express again my sincere thanks for the hospitality which has now become a tradition for you and for the frank discussion in your home. It was welcome and reassuring to me once again to find that your assessment of the political situation is completely in accord with my own. I hope that your far-reaching influence is felt as well in the negotiations presently being conducted at the Geneva Conference and that the Conference will be successful in assuring peace and freedom for the Western world and also for Berlin.
