1. [redacted] called to see me this afternoon. The real purpose of the visit apart from a general desire to establish some contact with us, was to recommend for possible use in South America a certain [redacted] who worked with us in OSS days in [redacted] Washington particularly in connection with [redacted] matters. [redacted] apparently is an expert on Latin America and [redacted] feels he could do a unique job there. [redacted] record should be available in great volume in the OSS files. Personally I did not see enough of him in 1942 to judge of his utility. I know he is extremely smart.

2. I understand [redacted] is now a naturalized American but do not know the date of his naturalization; Francis thought it was sometime during the war. I doubt whether we have the time or patience to work with F.M. but we might look up [redacted] record.
