Dear [Redacted]:

I enjoyed meeting you and I hope that you will find something better to do than type. I am sorry to tell you, however, that it looks as though springing you will be tougher than you and I envisaged.

The ruling seems to be pretty strong that in your particular line of work you can't be sprung short of real fireworks. However, your application is in and I will do the best I can.

Sincerely,

[Redacted]

STAT SUBJECT: [redacted]

STAT [redacted] who was sent to you by [redacted] and whom I interviewed yesterday, has been given the necessary application forms to fill out, and the possibility of his release by the Army has been discussed with him. STA

STAT Mr. [redacted] of Personnel tells me there is little hope that the Army will release [redacted]. The procedure, if you wish to pursue it, is to write a letter to the Chief, Military Personnel, here in the Agency [redacted], setting forth the reasons why [redacted] services are needed and why someone with the same qualifications cannot be secured outside the military. It will have to be pretty strong case. STA
