Dear

I have your letter of 10 January 1951, which I have been long in answering as I have just returned from a trip to the Far East.

I shall be glad to look up your papers and see what progress is being made.

STAT

As regards , I suggest you drop the matter and I will take any necessary steps at this end.

Mr. William H. Jackson Administration Building
2430 E Street N. W.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Jackson:

STAT

I am slightly confused as to whether it was you or a name-sake of yours whom I saw yesterday. Mr. [redacted] had told me that you were too busy to see me, which I could fully believe, so I naturally imagined that the Jackson I saw was not you. But the receptionist said it was!

Whatever did happen, let me thank you for a cordial, attentive audience. Knowing the press of similar things upon your office, I appreciated it very greatly. I still believe that my suggestion, though not necessarily too novel in appearance, does offer unusual differences in execution. This is because of the established practices of our business when it is carried out on a personal basis instead of mechanically. For that reason, if it is possible to give it consideration, I would like to have further opportunities to defend it.

I shall be out of town next week but I will be in Washington on the 13th and 14th of February. I will be at your disposal any time during these days. Of course, if this is not convenient, I will be glad to come down whenever it is possible for you to find time for me.

P.S. I suppose it is needless to ask that, if there is a multiple of Jacksons in your Administration Building, you will be kind enough to pass this letter on to the proper one.
