REMARKS: SUBJECT: PLANNING DIRECTIVE NO. 6, INTELLIGENCE TERMINOLOGY

1. In the execution of Planning Directive No. 6, I find that pursuant to JCS 1373, ANSCOL has screened some 20,000 words. ANSCOL's report covers the whole field of joint operations and will be submitted to JCS some time prior to 1 July 1946 (Colonel W. J. Grear, Chief, Research and Analysis Section, ANSCOL - extension). STAT
2. Attached hereto as enclosure for your signature, is memorandum to the Director recommending the forwarding of a memorandum to JCS requesting that the glossary be referred to CIG for review and comment prior to promulgation.
3. Upon receipt of this glossary I propose to form an informal committee in CPS to review the terms proposed and determine further action to adopt a standardization of intelligence terms which will be acceptable and useful to all interested government agencies.

REMARKS:

SUBJECT: INTELLIGENCE TERMINOLOGY

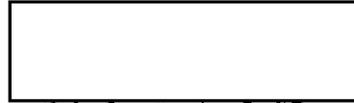

1. On its own initiative the Central Planning Staff has undertaken to investigate the possibilities of standardisation of intelligence terminology throughout the Government.

2. By JCS 1373 the Joint Chiefs of Staff directed the Army and Navy Staff College to prepare a glossary of common terms for joint use by the War and Navy Departments. This list will cover the whole field of joint operations and will contain many intelligence terms. Because the glossary is intended for military usage only, many definitions will probably not be acceptable for government-wide usage. In order to eliminate in so far as possible the permanent adoption of terms by the military services which cannot be used by all agencies of the government, it is believed wise to request JCS to submit the glossary in order that the intelligence terms contained therein may be reviewed by the CIG prior to publication.

MEMORANDUM

FOR: Colonel Andrew J. McFarland
Secretary
Joint Chiefs of Staff

REFERENCES: (a) JIC Memorandum for Information, No. 144,
3 April 1945
(b) JCS 1373, 31 May 1945

SUBJECT: Intelligence Terminology

1. Coordination of the national intelligence program requires the mutual understanding of intelligence terminology by all agencies of the Government.

2. Much progress has been made by the Joint Chiefs of Staff in the standardization of terms throughout the whole military field. The Army and Navy Staff College is now preparing, pursuant to JCS 1373, a glossary of terms for joint use by the War and Navy Departments. It is understood that the report requested in JCS 1373 will be submitted in the near future.

3. As directed in the President's letter of 22 January 1946, the National Intelligence Authority is responsible for the coordination of the national intelligence program. It is therefore requested that any compilation of definitions be referred to the Director of Central Intelligence for review and comment prior to promulgation to the military services.

Signed

SIDNEY W. SOUERS
Director
