MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

SUBJECT: Intelligence Requirements of the NESC for 1958-59.

1. The purpose of this memorandum is to assist the intelligence community by setting forth at this time the requirements of the Net Evaluation Subcommittee for coordinated intelligence in carrying out its 1958-59 exercise.

2. I have been informed that NIE 11-4-58, Main Trends in Soviet Capabilities and Policies, 1958-63, will have approximately the same coverage of Soviet military capabilities as NIE 11-4-57. This estimate will provide the bulk of the intelligence support required.

3. In addition, the NESC will need for the conduct of this exercise certain other coordinated intelligence, some of which may be too specialized in interest or too specific for inclusion in NIE 11-4-58. It is my suggestion that such information could be made available, specifically for this exercise, by letter or memorandum. For maximum usefulness, this information should be available by 1 October 1958.

4. An outline of the specific coordinated intelligence required is attached.

Outline of Specific Coordinated Intelligence

Required for NESC Exercise, 1958-59

A. Soviet nuclear delivery capabilities in mid-1962

1. Numbers of operational ICBM, IRBM, heavy bombers and tankers, medium bombers and tankers, naval and tactical aircraft, and guided missile submarines.
2. Performance data for above vehicles (i. e., range, loads, reliability, and accuracy for missiles; range, speed, loads, operational altitude, etc. for aircraft).

B. Soviet alert procedures in mid-1962 (i. e., reaction time of Soviet forces under varying conditions, particularly the alert status of the Long Range Air Force).

C. Soviet air defense in mid-1962

Note: NIE 11-57, Sino-Soviet Bloc Air Defense Capabilities, 1967-1962, was published 16 July 1957. A review and updating where appropriate of certain paragraphs in this estimate is required, specifically paragraphs 76-79, 83-86, 89-92, 99-101. In addition, an updating of information regarding the following is desired:

1. Organization, procedures, coverage of Soviet air defense.
2. Ranges and minimum and maximum altitudes of radars and weapons.
3. System reaction time.

- D. U.S. warning capabilities in mid-1962, i. e., ability to detect:
- 1. A Soviet governmental decision to launch a surprise attack.
 - 2. Long Range Air Force preparations for an attack of 100 bombers and tankers. 200, 300, 400, 500.
 - 3. IRBM positioning and preparations for an attack of 50 missiles. 100, 200, 500.
 - 4. ICBM positioning and preparations for an attack of 100 missiles. 200, 300, 400, 500.
 - 5. Naval preparations for an attack on the U. S. by varying numbers of guided missile submarines.
 - 6. Ground force preparations for varying weights of attack.
 - 7. Air Defense preparations.

6. Intelligence Requirements of NESC

Noted the memorandum from General Thomas setting forth the intelligence requirements of the NESC for 1958-59. It was agreed that the Board of National Estimates should prepare a draft paper designed to meet the requirements for certain specific coordinated intelligence, as outlined in the attachment to General Thomas' memorandum, with the understanding that the exact form of submission of that paper to the NESC (e.g, SNIE or memorandum) would be determined when the paper was submitted for review by the IAC. In this connection, it was also agreed that the National Indications Center should be requested to submit a contribution, as appropriate, on the portions of this paper relating to U. S. warning capabilities in mid-1962 (para. D of attachment to IAC-D-122).

MEMORANDUM FOR THE MEMBERS OF IAC AND USCIB

SUBJECT: Proposed Revision of NSCID No. 1 for Accomplishing
IAC-USCIB Merger

REF : IAC-M-346, 10 June 1958, Item 1

1. General Truscott has requested that the attached revision of his 26 May draft of post-merger NSCID No. 1 be distributed to the IAC and USCIB members. It incorporates in clean text certain modifications of language on which tentative agreement has been reached as a result of meetings with the intelligence principals from the military departments. Certain additional wordings which have been proposed but not agreed are shown in brackets.

2. This paper will be considered at an early joint meeting of the IAC and USCIB members.

INTELLIGENCE ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Proposed Revisions of NSCID No. 1 for Accomplishing

Merger of IAC and USCIB

1. Attached is a memorandum from General L. K. Truscott proposing certain revisions in the new NSCID No. 1 for accomplishing the merger of the IAC and USCIB.

2. This matter will be placed on the agenda of a joint IAC-USCIB meeting at an early date. General Truscott has indicated that his assistants will be available for consultation if members of the IAC or USCIB or their senior staffs desire to discuss or clarify any portion of these proposed revisions prior to their consideration in the joint meeting.
