...impression of a round structure...located on the flat top of what seems to be something like (AOI) a mesa. There are streaking rays emanating from, or going into this structure (AOI) like "Sun Streaks". Inside this structure it is dark, cool, rough, stone....cavern-like.

From one mile overhead, the view is dark, black, empty....a feeling of nothingness. Upon descending we get the impression of very high, rugged peaks. There is a flat, plateau-like area, and below this is a blue body of water that seems to be surrounded by a flat, open, grassy plain (AOI-Lake Titicaca).

From 200 miles up, I find myself moving up an inclined causeway with rough, stone walls on both sides...(AOI-Egypt). At this time I sense a presence nearby. At the end of the causeway is a long, dimly-lit, rectangular corridor constructed of smooth, dressed stone on all sides. At the end of the corridor is a steep incline with a very high ceiling, also constructed of smooth stone (AOI-pyramid). At the end of this inclined corridor is a large room with a very high, vaulted ceiling. There is a large, polished stone platform in this room (AOI-like an altar). There are white-robed entities in a semi-circle to one side. Their attention seems to be focused on the platform. The room is dimly lit. There is a feeling of something sacred, holy....almost religious about this place. This place seems familiar....as if I've been here before.

...climbed onto the platform and laid down. I was then illuminated by a brilliant shaft of white light from head to toe. The light was coming from overhead. A robed figure then moved from behind the group and stood next to me with a hand out-stretched over my solar plexus.

...took away from the session with a feeling that I should have remembered something.
