THE PRESIDENT'S INTELLIGENCE CHECKLIST

5 JULY 1961
TOP-SECRET
1. Iraq-Kuwait developments

- a) Likelihood of military action by Qasim believed much diminished with British military strength in Kuwait now superior to Iraqi forces in border area;
- b) Baghdad has cancelled all military leaves until further notice but on 3 July units at Basra were instructed "not to undertake any operation which would incite Kuwait";
- d) Top Arab League official is working hard on mediation effort.

2. Laotian situation

The contending factions in Laos continue to mark time pending the opening of talks on a coalition government. On a brief stopover in Bangkok before returning to Vientiane on 4 July, Phoumi declared out-of-the-blue that the Zurich meeting had agreed that Souvanna and Souphannouvong both unsuitable as premier because they had been "too much involved."
3. Hammarskjold alarmed over planned Congo coup.

Mobutu and Bomboco, with French encouragement, are considering a military coup against the Ileo government. The attempt would allegedly take place in the next week if Kasavubu's support can be assured. The Secretary General believes that such a coup would play into Soviet hands by enhancing Gizenga's support among the neutralist African states and would destroy hopes for a moderate Congo solution.

4. Chinese Communists put out feeler on private talks with US

An intimation of Peiping's desire for a series of informal, private conversations with US officials came at a recent meeting between US and Chinese Ambassadors in Warsaw. The Chinese, taking an unusually affable tack, urged an extension of such contacts, but took pains to hold the Peiping line on Laos, Taiwan and the UN. In recent months, Peiping has made similar approaches through other channels, always insisting, however, that Washington must take the first step toward improved relations.
