DAILY BRIEF
22 JUNE 1967

1. United Nations

The principal antagonists continue publicly to push their irreconcilable positions, but behind the scenes at the UN there are some slight signs of flexibility.

2. Soviet Union

The Soviet party's central committee ended its sessions yesterday with a hard-nosed resolution on the Middle East. It blasts the Israelis and re-echoes the call for unspecified "joint action" in support of the Arabs approved at the Communist summit conference in Moscow on 9 June.

50X1

The Soviets may well be preparing to back a simple resolution calling for unconditional Israeli withdrawal-- a resolution that would have some chance of gaining the required two thirds vote in the Assembly.

3. Aden

At last word, British troops had still not regained control of the Arab quarter of the city, which remains in terrorist hands. Arab radios in neighboring Yemen are exhorting the populace to "deal the death blow to British imperialism."

4. Soviet Union

More signs are cropping up of Moscow's extreme concern over the publication this fall of the book by Stalin's daughter.

50X1

Soviet leaders are particularly resentful over the expected timing of publication. It is scheduled to appear at about the time of the extravagant Soviet fiftieth anniversary celebrations this fall.

5. North Vietnam
