Re: Zivia Lubetkin

On August 30, 1960, a confidential source advised that he had read the article in "The New York Times" pertaining to the captioned subject's appearance in the United States, but he knew nothing concerning Lubetkin.

On September 1, 1960, Mr. Sidney A. Davis, Assistant Chief, Records Administration and Information Section, Immigration and Naturalization Service, New York, advised that he could locate no record pertaining to Lubetkin.

A review of current publications, both in the magazine and newspaper field, failed to reflect any information pertaining to Lubetkin.

On September 8, 1960, a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, New York City, under a suitable pretext, telephonically contacted the New York Branch of Histadrut, 33 East 67th Street, New York City, telephone number RE 4-6810. The female party answering the call advised that Mrs. Lubetkin, first name not mentioned, was the party who had been here in the United States on an appeal to raise money under the auspices of Histadrut in Israel. This person stated that Mrs. Lubetkin had returned to Israel, and any contributions or material should be sent to her care of Histadrut, Tel Aviv, Israel. This unknown female person also advised that Mrs. Lubetkin had been in the United States for a very short time to make the appeal for funds to aid in the building of a research center in Israel for the collection of information on murders of Jewish persons before and during World War II.
