This is to state that during my stay in Bangkok I was not provided neither with quarter nor with food by [ ] I lived in a guesthouse which was recommended to me by my supervisor, and I myself paid the bill.

I took the breakfasts mostly at the guesthouse, and the dinners in different places, all on my own expenses. I had to participate on some of the lunches given by the indigenous authorities to the indigenous personnel with which I had to co-operate in my work. This I did because it was necessary to build up the rapport, although I mostly was not able to consume the very spiced food served.
