1. Subject said that he has received four letters from relatives in Byelorussia which contain information that a program for the psychological preparation of the Byelorussian people for war has been recently instituted. Subject says that he and his relatives have ways of writing to each other whereby they can transmit information that would never pass the censors [open code]. Subject is preparing a full report on this for the undersigned which the undersigned will forward as soon as it is received.

2. The Byelorussian, in Argentina, who was to have been the cut-out between his brother in Poland and Agency personnel were the [] to achieve realization, has informed Subject that he is emigrating to the United States and will arrive circa 10 July of this year. His family will follow him at a later date. It is felt by the undersigned that this will most certainly negate the possibility of operating the [] project as a third national agent project, as had been originally planned. The possibility remains, of course, that the brother may still be utilized as a PA, in Poland, to Byelorussian operations. Subject was not able to furnish the reasons behind the emigration move but stated that he would contact the man from Argentina upon his arrival, in order to learn more of the personality himself and of his motivation.

3. Subject has spotted a REDSKIN candidate in the person of his own uncle who is now residing in the State of New Jersey. The uncle has been in the United States for quite a number of years. He has expressed a desire to see the homeland before he dies. Subject said that he would be able with certainty to recruit his uncle for a REDSKIN mission, but he would desire firm approval from the undersigned that once he has committed himself, the undersigned will not at a later date notify him that the project has been canceled and thus force upon Subject the funding of the trip to Byelorussia. The undersigned replied that Subject was to hold the recruitment in abeyance until such time as the undersigned could make a firm commitment.

4. The campaign to obtain Byelorussian representation on the Voice of America according to what little the Subject divulged to the undersigned was replete with mimeographed letters to most of the members of Congress. Subject said that this was a BNR (Byelorussian National Rada) project and one that they strove with all their capabilities to bring to fulfillment.

5. The Byelorussians had to give up the second floor of the building which they purchased in Brooklyn to the Byelorussian Church. Subject said this would not affect the Byelorussian building as a meeting place for Byelorussians since they have the first floor for that purpose. The building will need, however, a great deal of restoration.

6. The Subject said that he is available for training in the Washington, D.C. area during the week of 6-12 July. He asked that the undersigned locate living accommodations for his wife and 6 year old son for this period. Subject intends to use the cover story with his friends and relatives that he is taking a vacation in the south and will visit Virginia and the Chesapeake Bay for a week. Undersigned agreed to locate living quarters for the family.

7. Subject will act as the go-between for AECAMBISTA-4 with members of Congress in the matter of having a private bill sponsored to admit AECAMBISTA-4 legally into the United States without the due process of immigration and its attendant waiting period of five years.

8. Subject was paid his salary for the months of April and May. Receipt was obtained.

9. The undersigned will contact Subject by telephone to arrange the next meeting.
