11. Summary

During March W/T contact was maintained with the 5-man Apple Team, which is at a safe base in the Bulqiz area. The team reported that according to their contacts there was no indication of unusual unrest within the country. This was contrary to widespread rumors in the Western press which reported probable revolution following Stalin's death.

On the night of 10-11 March the British dropped leaflets on Tirana, Berat and Valona. Due to bad weather, only two-thirds of the leaflet load was dropped at this time. The balance was dropped on the night of 12-13 March when the aircraft returned to England from the Suez Canal Zone.

The covert radio maintained a regular broadcast schedule three times a day, including aerial transmissions at 1730 GMT on Mondays and Thursdays.

The NCFR semi-monthly newspaper Shqipëria went to press on schedule. 50,000 copies of the miniature edition were printed and sent to Athens for use in air drops over Albania.

The Albanian News Bulletin, printed irregularly in English, French and Italian, published its 15th issue on 28 February 1953.
