BY DOJ 90-17.

1. The FLEMING trace request re the subject is most interesting in light of recent discussions which the undersigned has had with the Identity-1 of CAVATA and CADISPATCH-1 (Identity-2) The information below should not be passed to CATIDE.

2. We have been probing cautiously for CAVATA opinion on the sources of leaks in CAVATA to the press and elsewhere over and above those already known, such as Identity-3 and Identity-4. ~~Some~~ ~~are~~ ~~aroused~~ ~~by~~ ~~statements~~ ~~from~~ ~~Identity-5~~ ~~to~~ ~~that~~ ~~neither~~ ~~Identity-3~~ ~~nor~~ ~~4~~ ~~are~~ ~~his~~ ~~sources.~~ He admitted that his sources are in CATIDE and former CAVATA officers. Recently we talked to Identity-1 about the subject without mentioning Identity-5. Identity-1 already expressed the opinion that the whole thing may have been started by CATIDE. The undersigned asked Identity-1 whether he knew of any CAVATA employees who left CAVATA under a cloud and later joined CATIDE. Identity-1 immediately mentioned the subject's name and said that he was a real bad egg. He had worked in Identity-1's department and had been nothing but a troublemaker. He was a former SSer and Identity-1 did not trust him at all. He added that he had a lot of trouble getting rid of him. At the time the undersigned did not bore in for further detail.

CONTINUATION OF DISPATCH	CLASSIFICATION SECRET / SECRET	DISPATCH SYMBOL AND NO. EGNA-27138
3. On 26 February 1964 the undersigned met CADISPATCH-1 and talked with him at length about the events that led up to the CALLIKAK flap and the various persons involved. This will be reported separately. In connection with this conversation the undersigned mentioned the possibility that there may be other CAVATA or ex-CAVATA types behind the flap and CADISPATCH-1 readily agreed. Several names were mentioned and then the undersigned slipped the name of the subject. CADISPATCH's reaction was immediate and very negative. He said that the subject was capable of anything. A real schemer and intriguer and had a background which indicated considerable vulnerability. Not only was he an SSer, but furthermore a sudetan German, which made him even worse in CADISPATCH's opinion. CADISPATCH-1 suggested that the undersigned get the full details from Identity-1 in whose department the subject was formerly located. 4. We have not followed up our discussion with Identity-1 re the subject but will do so at the next appropriate opportunity. There seems little likelihood that our discussions with CAVATA re the subject will get back to CATIDE, particularly since Identity-1 is not particularly persona grata with CATIDE and vice versa. 5. We will keep the addressees advised. It would be interesting to learn from MLB just what position the subject currently holds with CATIDE.
