

On October 13, 1961, Oberinspektor Walbaum of the Bavarian Landeskriminalamt (LKA) advised [ ] that one Dietrich Stehmann (address: Neuburg/Donau, Schlesierstrasse 28, Ostendsiedlung, West Germany) had received English- and Russian-language anti-Semitic literature in mail from the United States. The addressor is Post Office Box 927, Union, New Jersey.

Stehmann turned this matter over to the LKA in view of the fact that the only other literature which he receives at this address regularly is Nashe Obsche Delo (NOD), a publication of PBCHORD. Since the address on the mail from Union, New Jersey, and the address as carried by NOD are identical, Stehmann inquired of the LKA whether PBCHORD might have furnished his address to the anti-Semitic group in the United States or whether in fact PBCHORD has some connection with this group.

The Security Office is requested to ascertain the identity of the person using P.O. Box 927, Union, New Jersey. If possible, information regarding the individual or organization utilizing this box number should also be developed. Preliminary inquiry in Munich indicates that it is the policy of PBCHORD and NOD never to provide addresses from our mailing lists to other individuals. Any information that could possibly be developed regarding how Stehmann came to receive literature from the group at Union, New Jersey, should also be developed. During the course of this investigation no indication of U.S. government interest in this matter should be revealed.

For the information of Headquarters, the envelope and the English-language pamphlet received from Union, New Jersey, by Stehmann are being forwarded. These should be returned to [ ] following the completion of the above-requested investigation.
