1. JAGUAR have replied formally to our trace request on the Subject of paragraph 1A of reference with "no record against". They state that there are, however, certain factors in his background which they feel we should have in greater detail. They have, accordingly, provided a biographic note on Subject, which is forwarded herewith as Attachment A.

2. Liaison traces on the Subject of paragraph B of reference will be forwarded upon receipt. There are no Station traces.

aka @ Kostya Konstantin Konstantinovich RUDAKOV
aka @ Kostya KONSTANTIN KONSTANTINOVICH RUDAKOV
3 Feb 1921
Born: 2.3.21, Pernov, Estonia (or Leningrad) Son of: Konstantin Ivanovich RUDAKOV, former Professor of graphic and scenic designs
at the All Russian Academy of Arts, Leningrad (died about 1949), London England
and: Elena AVIKSON, an Estonian of Swedish extraction

Has not seen his parents since 1941, when he became a P.O.W. By 1942/3 he was a painter and cartoonist in Berlin, and he subsequently escaped, at the end of the war, to join the Polish forces in Italy in 1945/6, where he assumed the name of JARZINSKY. Under that name he arrived in the U.K. in 1946, and served in the Polish Resettlement Corps, from 1947/9.

2. From 1956/59 he was married to Marion PAWASSAR (born: 10.11.34, Libau, Germany, and now at Bad Hamburg near Frankfurt a.m.).

3. RUDAKOV is known to have been the subject of RIS enquiries in 1955 and in 1956 "K.K. RUDAKOV" was on the list of terrorists handed by General SEROV on the occasion of the BULGANIN/KHRUSHCHEV visit to the U.K. He is not known to be N.T.S., although he is friendly with Dimitri POSPIELOVSKY (known to you) and has a wide circle of acquaintances in Soviet emigre and defector circles in London.

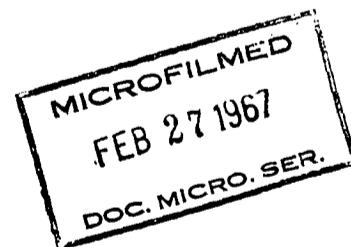

4. A well-known, though slightly raffish, portrait-painter, he has worked since 1958 for the BBC Russian Section, first as a free-lance, and then, since 1965 as a temporary programme assistant.

5. In 1959 RUDAKOV was interviewed by us about previous overt contact with members of the Russian Embassy, London, who had tried unsuccessfully to get him to return to the USSR.

6. His story, in brief, was that in the winter of 1953/4, while talking and drinking with Russian emigre friends in a public house, he had been approached by one "Afanasi" from the Soviet Embassy, who, unsuccessfully, tried to induce him to return to the USSR. Subsequently, in the spring of 1954, as a result of a press article and photograph, on the expulsion of the Soviet Service Attache, PUPYSHEV, he realised that "Afanasi" was, in fact, Col. MARAKAZOV, (Assistant Air Attache in London, 1950/56). Subsequently, in 1958, RUDAKOV was questioned about his background by two unknown Russians, who he presumed to be from the Soviet Embassy, and later, on occasions, met Soviet Embassy officials at the flat of Alexandre SHIHWARG, who had social contacts with the Soviet Embassy.

7. RUDAKOV's account at his interview of these occurrences gave every appearance of being genuine and it was not considered that he had been recruited by the RIS in any way. While we have no record of subsequent direct contact between RUDAKOV and members of the Soviet Embassy, it must be accepted that the RIS will have a record of him.

8. Amongst his wide circle of acquaintances RUDAKOV is one of several known contacts at the BBC Russian Section of Alexander DOLBERG, who worked for Radio Liberty until 1.1.64. The two men appear to be purely social acquaintances.
