2. CENTREG traces contain the following: In August of 1951, Dr. Robert PLATOW, West German publisher of the bi-monthly "Wirtschaftskorrespondenz", was arrested for the alleged bribery of several German Federal Government officials. Upon PLATOW's arrest, a list of names and addresses found in his possession was confiscated. The list was made up of officials to whom payments had been made for documents which he had published. SONNENHOL subsequently came under investigation as having been implicated. The Source is a CENTREG document (28 September 1951) based on original documents from an unidentified German agency concerned with the case. There are no additional CENTREG traces.
