Dear General,

It is good to learn from this morning's paper that you will soon assume direction of the Central Intelligence Agency. There is no position in our Government more vital to our continued national existence, and the fact that you will become Director of the Agency will mean that it will have the complete confidence of the Congress, the Services, and the public.

I hope that your return to Washington will mean that I may have the pleasure of seeing you more frequently.

With regards and best wishes, I am,

Sincerely yours,

General Walter Bedell Smith,
Governor's Island,
New York.
