MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

FROM: Special Assistant

SUBJECT: Halloween Party

Although it's two months off, some thoughts for the Halloween Party.

1. How Many? Last year you invited 368 people (including wives)--164 accepted and by my count 130+ attended, 42 of which were Congressional types and wives. If all 164 acceptances had attended, I felt you would have been in overload. With Congressional types most likely out of town (31 October is a Friday), I believe you can politically afford to keep the invite list down. Recommend: Extend invitations to no more than 275 people.

2. Whom Do You Invite? If your thoughts are to thank people for three and a half years of support, reciprocation of invitations and a sprinkling of neighbors, I would propose adding to the list of WH/State/DoD/IC/CIA people.

If your thoughts are also future-oriented, you may wish to invite some business contacts,

3. Entertainment. The piano playing was lost in the concert of conversation. Drif
Don't think you need it. Does Pat want some ideas for decorations, entertainment? How about a Dracula? Phantom of the Opera? Film projected from inside of the garage onto a sheet? A $1000 prize (shredded money) for the correct jelly bean count? My only hesitation here is engendered by the curse of Halloween--the last jelly-bean count winner lost the throne!
