SUBJECT: Suggestions for New Collection Systems

1. We have been requested to suggest new collection systems which might be successful in securing information needed to fill gaps in high priority intelligence objectives, such as guided missiles.

2. These suggestions need not be spelled out in detail; the proposal should contain enough of a general outline so that it can be understood by the people who will review it.

3. We would like to get ideas from any analyst who wishes to make a contribution. Imaginative thinking is encouraged. In order to facilitate passing these suggestions forward, we should like to have each suggestion outlined on a separate sheet of paper. Contributions should be in to this office by c.o.b. 23 April.
