THE MVD IN SOVIET ZONE, GERMANY

In an attempt to guide collection agencies of this Command and to improve reporting of information on Soviet security forces in Germany the following MVD station list has been prepared alphabetically by city within each province or land. For each MVD element in the Soviet Zone there has been indicated, so far as available, information on the following five factors: (1) Location, (2) Strength, (3) Duties, (4) Personalities, and (5) Vehicle Numbers.

Stress has been placed on current information. In no instance has information older than June, 1949 been used except for some personalities as of May 1949.

It will be noticed that entries under "duties" are seldom made. A description of the duties of the MVD along with how the MVD was so identified, has been a weak point in reports during the past year. It is apparent that with duties well described, mission may be reasonably well deduced.

Similarly, personalities in reports are usually simply alleged to be MVD with no indication as to how the identification was made. The difficulty of differentiating MVD officers from MGB officers is great inasmuch as the two services collaborate so closely. In addition the MGB frequently uses MVD uniform and both MVD and MGB personnel frequently wear civilian clothes. Finally, the Soviets continually attempt (rather successfully) to confound their victims as regards the actual identity of the security branch in question.

As a consequence of this intermingling of MGB and MVD there will be many instances where one service is erroneously reported as the other. In the use of this listing, cross checks should be made with MGB Workbook, published by 66th CIC Det.

It is significant that in the past year no deserter from MVD troops has appeared although the MGB and most other military services were represented. Thus this listing is almost entirely based on external observation of the MVD.

The chain of command for MVD (Border) troops, though unknown, is thought to be independent of all other agencies, including UVD officers on SCC staffs, with the possible exception of some units which may be assigned to the MGB. That is, MVD Troop Hqs (for Border troops) is believed to receive directives from the main Directorate of Border Troops, MVD, Moscow. (The assignment of MVD Regts to Armies, as during the past war, is not believed current practice.)

The strength of the MVD troops has remained rather constant at some ten regiments or their equivalent for the past year. It is believed that these regiments are not organized as Divisions in the Soviet Zone, Germany. The Central Hq for MVD (Border) troops is believed to be Regattastr, Berlin/Grunau. Most, if not all, of these regiments are composed of Border Troops (Pogranichniki) although in Soviet Zone the Border troops have been decreasingly committed to border duty. In fact, on the Western Border of Soviet Zone, such few Border troops as are reported probably do little more than receive (from German police) certain arrestees in whom the MGB has interest.

The presence in Soviet Zone of Militia, Interior and Signal troops of the MVD is not established.

The individual soldier of the MVD is chosen with particular reference to a spotless (Soviet) background. This may account for the lack of deserters.

At present, the Border troops seem to be employed largely as guard (security) for the AUE (K-53) area, for MGB installations and for some Kommandatras. Many MVD Border troops, however, are reported as simply remaining in the barracks area with no apparent duty assigned. Such troops may be on "alert" status as was recently reported (F-6) in LEIPZIG.

A major use of MVD troops is in the administration of prisons principally for MGB cases. The utilization of the MVD as an executive arm develops much of the confusion in the minds of the arrestees as to which service is the author of their detention.

Equipment of the MVD consists of light infantry weapons, some dogs and an assortment of various vehicles. Artillery, tanks and heavy equipment have not been identified with MVD troops.

It is not believed that either MVD troops or UVD officers of SCC staffs are engaged directly in intelligence or counter-intelligence in Soviet or Western Zone of Germany.

In the USSR the 400,000-odd members of the MVD perform police functions, guard and supervise "corrective labor" institutions, guard the frontiers and suppress insurrections.

The relative numbers, categories and uses of MVD troops in Soviet Zone appears to be greatly curtailed when compared with MVD troops in USSR. The reason would seem to lie in the fact that the East German Government is developing under Soviet tutelage, indeed MVD tutelage, its own parallel forces.

The uniform of the Border Troops of the MVD (EM) is distinguished by the GREEN shoulder boards with dark green piping. In many instances, however, the piping is red. Why this difference exists is unknown. Officers wear gold (yellow) shoulder boards with green piping.

The uniform of the Interior Troops of the MVD (EM) is distinguished by the RED shoulder boards with blue piping. Officers wear gold (yellow) shoulder boards with blue piping.

The uniform of the Militia of the MVD (EM) is distinguished by BLUE shoulder boards with red piping. Officers wear white shoulder boards with blue piping.

A number of MVD (UVD) officers are employed in administrative security assignments within the framework of the Soviet Control Commission (SCC). In general, the exact functions at all levels of such MVD officers can not be stated but it is believed that such assignments deal with security control of and development of German police forces comparable to the MVD as organized in USSR, security supervision over transport and communications.

The chain of command for MVD (UVD) officers within the SCC probably extends from most of the larger Kommandanturas, through the Province commissions, to the SCC at Berlin/Karlshorst.

A deserter from UVD, Berlin/Karlshorst supplied the following information on UVD as organized under SMA in October 1949. Evaluation C-2. This information is extracted from RT-291-50.

4. There is a similar UVD (OVD) organization in each land capital
(ID COMMENT) Such an OVD section would presumably be part of the Land Control Commission. It is likely that representatives of UVD (OVD) are also on the staff of at least the larger Kommande-tures.
