Cuba
COMMITTEE HEARINGS ON TRAVEL TO CUBA IN VIOLATION OF PASSPORT RESTRICTIONS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under previous order of the House, the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. ICHORD] is recognized for 10 minutes.

Mr. ICHORD. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, the Committee on Un-American Activities has announced that a subcommittee consisting of Mr. GEORGE F. SENNER, JR., Democrat, of Arizona; Mr. AUGUST E. JOHANSEN, Republican, of Michigan; with myself as chairman will hold public hearings tomorrow and Friday, September 3 and 4, 1964. These hearings are a continuation of a series the committee has been holding during this Congress on travel to Cuba in violation of passport restrictions. In addition, the subcommittee will inquire into the pro-Castro and other Communist agitation and propaganda activities of these travelers in order to determine whether they are in fact acting as agents of a foreign power.

The group of 58 traveled to Cuba in 1963, and the 84 who returned from Cuba last Friday were guests of the Cuban Government. Their expenses of travel to Havana by way of Paris and Prague, and their subsequent return to the United States were paid by the Cuban Government. Their expenses for lodging, food, and travel within Cuba were also paid by the Cuban Government. It estimated that these two trips cost the Castro government some $250,000.

The hearings last year revealed why Castro invested this money on American radicals rather than using the money for the benefit of the Cuban people. First, the money purchased pro-Castro and anti-American propaganda; and second, in my opinion, the most important of Castro's benefits was the breakdown of the effectiveness of U.S. passport restrictions.

Gerald Mazzola, director of the Cuban Institute for Friendship Among the Peoples, told the 1963 travelers just before they left Havana that the trip was important to Cuba and to Cuba's foreign policy because if the Americans could break the American travel ban, it would be very difficult for other countries to impose restrictions on travel to Cuba.

I have recited this background so that the Members of the House would have an understanding of the type of young people the committee will be dealing with during its hearings tomorrow and Friday. Knowing their willingness to serve a foreign power to the detriment of the United States permits us to understand their conduct before the committee last year.

You will recall that Chairman WILLIS, on the day before the hearings last year, advised the House that the committee had received information that the group planned demonstrations during the hearings. He urged that the plans be called off because the committee intended to do its job despite their planned demonstrations and disruptions, which, according to the chairman, were designed to discredit not only the committee but the Congress itself. Last year they did not take the chairman's advice and those responsible were ejected from the hearing each time they set off a demonstration. They then falsely claimed that they were attacked by the police and demonstrated in self-protection.

This year they are more bold. Philip Luce, a witness last year, participated in a press conference at Kennedy Airport shortly after the 84 returned from Cuba on August 14. Even before the committee subpoenas had been served, he told the press what the committee could expect. To the wild cheers of the travelers, he referred to the committee as "the scum that holds forth in Congress." In typical Communist terms, he used phrases such as "goons" and "other scum" in an apparent reference to the Capitol Police. With obvious pride, he predicted and I quote, "This year there will be bloody heads, but the heads that will be bloody will not be ours."

As chairman of the subcommittee which will conduct these hearings, I wish to announce that we will not be deterred from our task by such threats. Hearings will be held. They will be orderly and conducted with the dignity that should mark all congressional proceedings.

The hearings are open to the public; however, they are not open to anyone who is not orderly or who publicly proclaims his agents will disrupt the dignity of a congressional hearing. This rule shall also be enforced against anyone who attempts to demonstrate or in any way disrupt the decorum of the hearings.
