American Embassy in London. He was now about to take his post in the State Department just before becoming a war correspondent at the State Department's convoluted Senate hearing in Arlington, Virginia.

The usually well-informed Secretary Rusk, was on his way to the Civil Service Commission building across the way from the State Department. So far as the Secretary of State was concerned, this second man was in deep disgrace. He had been refused a Black Belt for the BBC. He had received no pay at all from the State Department.

As the two men passed each other on July 31, they could reflect on the irony with which the fate of each was sealed in the last two months of 1960.

The reason was clear. On his way to the Civil Service Commission was Otto F. Otepka, the State Department's former top professional Security Officer, now dismissed from his security post, severely reprimanded and reduced in grade by Secretary Rusk. The reason for his disgrace? Without prior approval of his immediate superior, John Reilly, who since has resigned under the threat of a personnel charge, Mr. Otepka delivered a classified document to the Senate Security Subcommittee. At the time, Mr. Otepka was under oath and felt he had to tell the Senate the truth.

The man on his way to visit close and powerful friends in the State Department was Mr. Rusk.

Like Mr. Otepka, Mr. Brubec had also become famous for delivering, without prior authorization, a classified White House and State Department document to someone else. The only difference was that Mr. Brubec was not a Security Officer, and he had passed the secret document to members of the press not authorized to receive it.

As the time, Mr. Brubec was Director of the Security Division of the national campaign headquarters of John F. Kennedy. In November, 1960, Mr. Brubec's office was located on the fourth floor of 1737 L Street in the nation's capital. A very close friend was Robert F. Kennedy.

On the afternoon of November 2, Mr. Brubec received Roy Gootenberg, a Federal employee working in the Bureau of the Budget, but assigned temporarily to a sensitive position in the State Department. Mr. Brubec and Mr. Gootenberg had had several conversations about the secret document and had agreed to share it.

The document, with the word Secret stamped on every page, was the 1959 Sprague Report sent to President Eisenhower. Its authors included Allen Dulles, the Director of the Central Intelligence Agency; Gordon Gray, the Director of the United States Information Agency; Gordon Gray, the Director of the State Department, and Mr. Otepka. The document had been given to Mr. Brubec to share with President Kennedy.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.

Mr. Brubec had imported Mr. Gootenberg to obtain the document because the reader of the document was Robert F. Kennedy, who had been interned in the Secretariat of the Secretary of State, the State Department and the United States Information Agency.