CHARLES S. JENNINGS

C.S. Jennings Of U. S. News Dead at 46

Charles S. Jennings, news editor of the magazine U. S. News and World Report, died Monday at Suburban Hospital. He was 46.

Mr. Jennings was injured last week when he fell from the roof of his home 4706 Hunt ave., Chevy Chase, while doing some repair work.

A native of Denver, Mr. Jennings was a veteran newspaperman. He began as a reporter on the Sioux Falls (S. D.) Argus-Leader after his graduation from Northwestern University. Later he was a reporter for the Evanston (Ill.) News-Index and a copy editor on the Chicago Daily News.

In 1943 Mr. Jennings was awarded a Neiman Fellowship for journalism study at Harvard University.

He served for a time with the Office of War Information during World War II and later spent 10 years as a radio propaganda analyst in England with the Central Intelligence Agency.

His wife, Pauline; a son, Charles Riley; two daughters, Susan and Katherine Ann, and Mr. Jennings' mother, Mrs. Jane Salyer, Sioux Falls, survive.
