The intended visit of Bobby Kennedy over in Albany reminds us that one Corvallis matron has observed that between Bobby and brother Jack, the president has the better looking legs. Who is to say voters are not observant?

From listening to the two brothers speak from the same platform, we might offer the opinion that the Attorney General is the better speaker, but such a tidbit pales into insignificance beside the dramatic information about the shape of their legs.

Francis Gary Powers is no longer in the employ of the Central Intelligence Agency. He is back at Lockheed as a test pilot, the job he left to take the spy-in-the-sky assignment. He is undoubtedly testing U-2's from a safer perch.

We don't think much of ABC having a convicted perjurer and traitor to his country testify on television against a former Vice President of the United States. If Mr. Nixon is to be buried he should at least be allowed to speak in rebuttal at his own funeral.
