

NEW YORK
JOURNAL AMERICAN

APR 10 1964

FOIAb3b

Our Readers' Views

CPYRGHT

IMPORTANT QUESTION

In 1953 the late Ambassador Scott McLeod reported to the Senate Committee on Government Operations the names of hundreds of security risks holding jobs in the State Department. When the committee attempted investigation of the matter, they were charged with witch-hunting, McCarthyism, etc. If loyal anti-Communists such as Otto Otepka can be dismissed, why are disloyal pro-Communists kept on year after year? The most important question at present is not who appointed them, but who is preventing their dismissal.

RUTH L. GARDNER
Maplewood, N. J.