ないことのから 医療を行れているがれた

100

298 Pages 17 Sections Living K Metro E Obituaries E Amusements E1 Books E Sect Classified D15 Clussified C 6 Financial F 1 Gardens K 1

よるもりにひ

Detailed Index, Page A2

Higher beyond Metropolitan area See Box A2

Phone (202) 223-6000 Correlation 223-6100

1975

C1

SUNDAY

8 @1973, The Washington Post Co.

Section 1

"This one does embarrass me..." WILLIAM E. COLBY

by Explains 'Missteps' of

The CIA director discussed these past or present, that they might know matters in an hou-long interview in about his 7th-floor sails at the agency shead drough the Watergate scendal. The 1971 quarters Friday, coupling, candid and drough the hazards of unaccus concern about the hazards of unaccus ried out with CIA technical assistance. In Colby's view, there has been too said in intended to do all the could "to hazard which."

In Colby's view, there has been too much put licity already. The agency, he insisted, has served the country far better than it realizes.

But Colby acknowledged, foo, that over he had no clear idea of the abuses thriving in its past until the investigation by the Rocketeller, sommission was completed this month. Even more congressional inquiries lie The seeds were planted on May 9, 1772, when then-ClA Director James R. Schesinger sent a memorandum to all employees calling for immediate reports on any questionable activities,

And the command line basically reported what it heard down through the regular hierarchy: what do you know, what do you know, And that was gathered together and given to the inspector general.

"In addition," Coby said, "few employees went to the inspector general with something they remembered. But inspector general didn't go out and look through every file drawer in the place or anything like that."

confine CIA activities to those which fall within a strict interpretation of its legislative charter."

The report included a section on assination plots and schemes. Other portions were Just a reheals of old in spector general reports that CIA officials pulled out of their desks, apparaments including information on testing a controversial program that lasted of the controversial controversial controversial control The result, Colby agreed, was a rush job that could not even be called a genuine investigation. The CIA inspector general's office, which handled the assignment, submitted a report just 11 days later, on May 21, 1973. "If was an accumulation rather than an investigation, if you get the distinction," Colby said. "In other words, the Schlesinger memo went to all employees. Well, the first employees it went to was the command line.

a controversial program that lasted from 1838 to 1963.
The White House was not informed but not, by Colby's account, because of any preoccupation with the Watergate scandal. The day after Schlesinger wrote his May 9, 1973 memo, President Nixon nominated him to become Secretary of Defense, and Colby who was then CIA deputy director for covert operations, was named to take over the spy agency.

"This one does embarrass me a bit," Cohy said of the failure to notify the White House. "I think what happened, quite frankly, is that it fell between the stools—of Schlesingers's loaving the stoo the stools—of Schlesinger's leaving and my taking over. I imagine he thought maybe I was going to take care of the National Scentity Council (the White House agency which is supposed to supervise the CIA) and I imagine that I thought he was."

The Justice Department also was kept in the dark by virtue of a long standing agreement, disclosed and denounced by the Rockefeller commis-

See COLBY, A5, Col. 1

The Weather

Joint Sumy, high near 90, low man are to today and tonight. Mongay—Mostly sumy, high near 90.

Grown 85 to 71. Details on Page B7.

Toning Sum, high near 90.

Setterday's temperature range was exterday's temperature range was proposed by the standard of the standard standard, cursory check of the standard some of its indings and decondard some of its indings and decondard some of the records of its illessent standard some of the records of its illessent standard standard sion, to let the CIA decide whether a crime had been committed by its emi ployees or agents and whether security considerations precluded prosecution even when a crime had taken place.

Colby Explains CIA 'Missteps'

Organized in January with the inspector general's 1973 report as one of Its basic primers, the commission condluded this month that the CIA had engaged in "plainly unlawful" conduct 11-from burglary through bugging to the LSD testing and other activities. But Colby indicated that he never even contemplated going to the Justice Department at the time.

"In retrospect, I would say yes, I should have," the 55-year-old Colby acknowledged. "No question about it, we Ishould have done it."

Colby said he first reached that conclusion "sometime in December"which was the month that The New York Times disclosed some of the acstivities recounted in the 1973 report. The CIA director said he realized that month that "I do have an obligation to actually carry down to the Department of Justice and let them make the decision as to whether anything should be prosecuted or not."

After conferring with Schlesinger, / who in a sense did direct me" to go to Capitol Hill, Colby said he briefed both Rep. Lucien Nedzi (D-Mich.) and Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.), the chairmen of the Senate and House subcommittees in charge of CIA oversight, in late May, 1973, on the agency's improprieties. But clearly, Colby agrees now, "that isn't enough."

Now chairman of the special House committee investigating the CIA, Nedzi, who has recently come under fire for taking no action two years ago, asked a lot of additional questions, Colby recalled, but was apparently satassied with the answers he got and did hot inform his colleagues. 🙃

Colby did not characterize Stennis' reaction, but he has long been a stolid defender of the CIA. Apparently both he and Nedzi accepted Colby's assurances that corrective action would be

No follow-up investigation was conducted, including within the CIA, to determine whether any of the activities warranted prosecution or to find Repeatedly, Colby emphasized that his mind was on the future, on making ure they didn't happen again.

He said he issued "specific instruc-

I fons with respect to each of the cate! spector general's report" on Aug. 29, 1 1973, banning some, laying down strict rules for others and declaring still others permissible.

Concerning the CIA's "following of people around in America," Colby said, for example, he "issued a directive saying 'you won't do that any more' I frankly didn't care at that point whether it was 20 cases or 40 cases. The fact was there weren't going to be any more."

The Rockefeller commission found more instances of burglary, bugging, and other misdeeds than he was aware of. Colby indicated. Another reason for the escalating statistics, he said, was the fact that he agreed with the commission at the outset that the CIA would not interview former employees to avoid any suggestion that the agency was trying to influence their Consequently, Colby said, "the commission knows more than. do . . . There's a couple of cases, a couple of incidents mentioned [in the commission report] that I didn't know about. I don't challenge the fact that they happened. But they're not in our records."

'I think any less dedicated group of people would have all flown away long ago

The commission also said in its report that some CIA records had been ordered destroyed in 1973, including 152 separate files on the drug-testing program.

Colby said he had various documents destroyed, and indicated that the drugtesting records were among them.

"We had files around here we shouldn't own, some of these surveillance things and stuff like that," he said, "and I had directed, 'let's get rid of that stuff,' in 1973." Colby recalled that former CIA Director Richard M. Helms took a similar step with tapes he had on leaving the agency in January, 1973.

"He [Helms] said it didn't have anything to do with Watergate, [that] he was just getting rid of all this junk people collect, you know," Colby said.

Asked whether, he now felt that the documents he ordered destroyed should have been sent to the Justice Department in 1973 along with the inspector general's findings, Colby that not all should have gone to Just In any dear the future, even that not all should have gone to Just In any dear the future, even the films where the incidents wave. paused and said softly, "I guess, rather flimsy, but other documents, he agreed, probably should have been sent over

The Justice Department is studying the evidence compiled by the Rockefeller commission, concerning both domestic spying and CIA involvement in assassination plots, to determine whether any prosecutions should be undertaken.

Colby said he was confident that no CIA employees will be indicted because, he said, he fells, they were acting under the belief that whatever they did, while perhaps "technically" illegal, was permissible "in the course of their duties."

Among Colby's August, 1973, directives was an order that the "CIA will not engage in assassination nor induce, assist or suggest to others that assassination be employed," but he said an earlier ban had been issued by Helms in March, 1972, three months before the Watergate break-in.

kill

Chi

sai

car

the apı

bu

ot

th

RI

da

wl

ne

to fc

tŀ

Asked what prompted the Helms edict, Colby said it was issued because of the heavy amount of publicity stemming from Colby's 1971 congressional testimony on Operation Phoenix in South Vietnam, which critics charged relied heavily on torture and assassination.

The 1972 directive, Colby said, was written "just to make clear what his [Helms] policy and my policy were . . . to clarify the records so that it's clear what our policy was."

The Helms order was not widely disseminated, however. Neither the White House, nor congressional overseers were told about it at the time, Colby said. Even the CIA's general counsel in 1972, Lawrence Houston, who is now retired, said he never heard of it until it was publicly disclosed several days ago..

Voicing high praise for the CIA and its employees despite the current furor, Colby said he has no idea when the investigations will end, but made plain that he hopes they will close down as quickly as possible.

"I think any less dedicated group of people would have all flown away long ago, but this is an enormously highly motivated, dedicated, talented group/of people," Colby said. "Our intelligence is the best in the world."

Unquestionably, Colby said, the CIA made mistakes, but he called this the result of an old tradition that its work was not supposed to be talked about, a climate that no longer exists.

"If you let any large organization operate without controls and without supervision, it will get in some trouble," Colby said, but even so, he said, 'the country's been well served by this agency and I think it will be well as soon as investigators are done with

Have a bonfire? he was asked.

'Damn right," the CIA director said. pointing out the windows to the closely "Right out 219-acre site. there."

Approved For Release 2002/01/02: CIA-RDP77M00144R000800070047-9

UNCLASSIFIED		CONFIDENTIAL		SECRET
Approved For Release	200	2/01/02 : CIA-RDP7	7M001	44700080	0070047-9

EXECUTIVE SECRETARIAT

Routing Slip

		ACTION	INFO	DATE	INITIAL
1	DCI
2	DDCI
3	S/MC
4	DDS&T
5	DDI
6	DDA
7	DDO
8	D/DCI/IC
9	D/DCI/NI)
10	GC
1	LC
12	IG				ļ
13	Compt
14	D/Pers
15	D/S				ļ
16	DTR				ļ
17	Asst/DCI				ļ
18	AO/DCI				ļ
19 20
21
22
	SUSPENS	E	Date

l
The second secon
Remarks:
i Kemarks:
110111011101 i ł .
1
1
l .
1
1
1
1
1

25X1A

Approved For Release 2002/01/02: CIA-RDP77M00144R000800070047-9

MAJORITY MEMBERS JACK BROOKS, TEX., CHAIRMAN JACK BROOKS, I.E., CHAIRMAN
L. H. FOUNTAIN, N.C.
JOHN E. MOSS, CALIF.
DANTE B. FASCELL, FLA.
TORBERT H. MACDONALD, MASS.
WILLIAM S. MOORHEAD, PA.
WM. J. RANDALL, MO.
BENJAMIN S. ROSENTHAL, N.Y.
JIM WRIGHT, TEX.
FERNAND J. ST GERMAIN, R.I.
FLOYD W. HUCKS. WASH. FERNAND J. ST GERMAIN, R.I.
FLOYD V. HICKS, WASH.

DON FUQUA, FLA.

JOHN CONYERS, JR., MICH.
BELLA S. ABZUG, N.Y.

JAMES V. STANTON, OHIO
LEO J. RYAN, CALIF.

CARDISS COLLINS, ILL.

JOHN L. BURTON, CALIF.

RICHARDSON PREYER, N.C.

MICHAEL HARRINGTON, MASS.

ROBERT DRINAN MASS. MICHAEL HARRINGTON, MASROBERT DRINAN, MAS-S.
EDWARD MEZVINSKY, IOWA
BARBARA JORDAN, TEX.
GLENNE ENGLISH, OKLA.
ELLIOTT H. LEUITAS, GA.
DAVID W. EVANS, IND.
ANTHONY MOFFETT, CONN.
ANDREW MAGUIRE, N.J.
LES ASPIN, WIS.

NINETY-FOURTH CONGRESS

Congress of the United States House of Representatives

COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENT OPERATIONS 2157 Rapburn House Office Building Washington, D.C. 20515

March 1, 1976

MINORITY MEMBERS

MINORITY MEMBERS
FRANK HORTON, N.Y.
JOHN N. ERLENBORN, ILL.
JOHN W. WYDLER, N.Y.
CLARENCE J. BROWN, DHIO
GILBERT GUDE, MD.
PAUL N. MC.O." SKEY, JR., CALIF.
SAM STEIGET BIZ.
GARRY BROWN MICH.
CHARLES THOME, NEBR.
ALAN STEELMAN, TEX.
JOEL PRITCHARD, WASH.
EDWIN B. FORSYTHE, N.J.
ROBERT W. KASTEN, JR., WIS.
WILLIS D. GRADISON, JR., OHIO

MAJORITY-225-5051 MINORITY-225-5074

Executive Registry

Honorable George Bush Director Central Intelligence Agency Washington, D. C.

> The committee herewith submits to you the enclosed bill, H.R. 12039 , upon which the committee would appreciate a prompt report, together with such comment as you may desire to make.

Will you kindly transmit your reply in triplicate.

Respectfully,

Chairman.

Enclosure.

Approved For Release 2002/01/02 : CIA-RDP77M00144R000800070047-9

Consumer Total

Wrong Addresses Keep Thousands From Getting Tax Refunds By IRVIN MOLOTSKY TO WESTICHESTER COUNTY FEST.

By IRVIN MOLOTSKY

Most Americans met the April 15 deadline for filing Federal income tax returns, but if past experience is any indication, thousands o of people who are entitled to refunds work get them.

"The refunds are usually undeliverable because the wrong address is on the forms," said a spokesman for forms," said a spokesman for the Internal Revenue Serv-ice district office in Brookllyn, which takes in Brooklyn, Queens and Nassau and Suf-folk Counties.

However, he was at a loss to guess why there were so many incorrect addresses in his district. At a recent count, 2,086 checks representing last year's refunds and destined for Queens individuals and 3,273 for people to Proceeding visuals and a serious processing the process of the in Brooklyn were returned to the government as undeliverable. Their face value was just a bit under $1 million.

Nassau County 372 checks were undeliverable and in Suffolk there were 353. Together, they had a face value of $165,000.

Milton A. Waldman, a spokesman for the Manhattan district, said, "Returned checks are almost traditional. The number may vary, but it happens every year."

Here are recent figures for returned checks in the Manhattan district: 4,265 checks in Manhattan and 2,131 in the Bronx with a combined face value of nearly $1.5 million; 110 checks sent to Staten Islanders with a value $33,000 sent to Rockland County residents and 426 checks worth $119,000 sent and the state of the state of the state of

A similar situation had existed in New Jersey until a sizable dent was made in the backlog because that state has many medium-sized newspapers that serve limited areas, and the Internal Revenue Service has found that many people respond when local papers carry lists of taxpayers in their communities entitled to refunds. nities entitled to refunds.

A recent compilation showed that 900 checks destined for Essex County residents and worth $8,113 had been returned undelivered, as were 825 checks worth as were 822 cheeks worth $5,433 in Passaic, Bergen and Morris Counties combined, 700 worth $2,862 in Hudson, 170 worth $1,585 in Union and 120 worth $2,863 in Monmouth.

For the country as a whole, as of last summer. 89,000 checks worth $25.million had been returned to the Govern-ment as undeliverable. People who think they should have received refunds last year but did not should call the Internal Revenue Service in their areas.

These who have moved since filing can call the office with jurisdiction for their old addresses without charge by using the list of toll-free numbers available in I.R.S pamphlets, including Publi cation 17, "Your Federal In-come Tax."