25X1C

1. In connection with his FCS assignment as Chief of Station, [REDACTED] exceeded the weight allowance (4,000 pounds) and was accordingly billed the sum of $626.56, representing the excess cost. The excess weight was deemed necessary by [REDACTED] for proper establishment of his representational house. The [REDACTED] Station reimbursed him $626.56 for this excess shipment, and charged the expense to the station support/representation allotment.

2. The Far East Field Audit Staff took exception to this charge since [REDACTED] Travel Order did not specifically authorize excess shipment of effects nor did his letter of authorization to incur representation expense include any provision for the shipment of effects over and above the normal authorized weight limitations.

3. The attached claim is forwarded for your approval as a proper representational charge in the absence of specific authorization in Subject's Travel Order or Letter of Authorization to incur representation expenses.

4. For your information, we note that the present standard form letter used by the Agency in granting representational allowances makes no provision for granting reimbursement for the shipment of household effects in excess of weight limitations authorized under existing regulations. We would appreciate your comments as to the proper course of action this office should follow when claims are presented for similar type expenses.
