II. OTHER ITEMS

Plans

a. The CI Staff reported that there were 34 applicants for the fifteen vacancies in the next running of the Counterespionage Operations Course. Because of this demand, permission was given by the Director of Training to accelerate the schedule and to add another running of the course before the summer recess.

b. As groundwork for the proposed CI/CE Familiarization course, [redacted] is in the process of having sessions with a few people in DD/P (branch, division, and CI Staff) who work directly in the CE field and are consequently alert to practical training needs.

Courses

c. Counterespionage Operations Course No. 11 began on 13 May 1957 with a full complement of fifteen students representing four area divisions, the CI Staff, the Office of Training, and the Security Office. FE with five and WE with four students have the strongest representation in this course. The grades of the students range from GS-7 to GS-15. Ten students are at the GS-12 or lower level.

d. The eleventh running of the Cable Refresher course for Clandestine Services headquarters personnel held on 15 May was attended by 55 students. Sixty-four students were registered.

e. During mornings of the week of 13 May [redacted] is giving tutorial instruction in CE to a student who is scheduled for field assignment shortly.

f. War Planning Course No. 10 commenced on 13 May with an enrollment of eleven students. At this early date it appears that this is a very enthusiastic and alert group. If this continues, the seminar discussions in this course should be most interesting as this student body represent a good cross section of Agency experience and knowledge.

One item which may contribute to the enthusiasm of this group is the remodeled classroom in which the course is being held. Numerous compliments have been received from the guest lecturers, students and even casual passers-by. All feel that room 132 represents an ideal classroom of its size. (The leaky roof and subsequent mopping up operations notwithstanding.)
