25 YEAR RE-REVIEW

25X1 1. In my Weekly No. 1 (4 January 1965), I mentioned [redacted] in connection with his term paper for the Senior Seminar in Foreign Policy. The following memorandum (Chief, SR Division, to the DDP Senior Training Officer) I quote in toto, "Based on my discussion with [redacted] DDI Staff, it is believed that [redacted] will be making other plans." 25X1 This memorandum was forwarded to me with no comment. 25X1 [redacted] will let us know what changes he will make in his itinerary.

25X1 Our other student in the Senior Seminar, [redacted] 25X1 [redacted] NE, proposes an orientation trip to the Near and Far East. As soon as Ambassador Jones approves his subject (ChiCom Nuclear Problem), [redacted] will send us his itinerary for approval. It is my understanding that he has the verbal approval [redacted] 25X1

2. Although the Pentagon Nuclear Weapons Briefing is only four hours in length, it is one of our more important programs. This course gives the high level busy man his only opportunity to receive training in the field. In the past, this type of employee has been enrolled in the longer course at Sandia but usually must be canceled due to office requirements. Our selection is based on either the above type or the employee who went to Sandia a number of years ago.

This time we were able to secure additional spaces in the 9, 10, and 11 February runnings. Among the 20 employees [redacted] 25X1

[redacted]
Hitchcock (CGS).

25X1 4. There were [] students included in the spring term tuition advance of which [] received money. Two of the remaining three were sent on emergency TDY's and the third simply forgot and could not be reached. A better record could not be hoped for. However, 75 training requests arrived too late to be included in the advance. Generally speaking, the guilty party is the office and not the employee. Most of the requests were started in time but took one to two weeks getting out of the supervisor's box to career boards []

25X1 5. "The Course" - Ballistic Missile Staff Familiarization - is creating a protocol problem. However, it is not really OTR's problem. The Senior Training Officers of the DDI and DDS&T nominated their official candidates. However, the candidates change weekly due to the "pecking order." Dr. Chamberlain bumped [] who in turn bumped [] The 25X1 following week [] bumped [] who is 25X1 again jockeying to bump somebody. We were informed on the Training Officer level that [] is making a comeback. 25X1 It will be interesting to see how [] gets back to 25X1 home base, especially since he is the Acting Chief of OSI's Ballistic Missile and Space Division.

6. For the past four years I have been in constant communication with Dr. Rolfe Allen of the Training Division of CONARC. We finally met for a luncheon on 27 January. I have never dealt with anyone who knew as much about his business as this man. We always joke about getting together, but recently he has urged me to come over to the Pentagon for lunch. I have the impression that he is phasing out. This was to be a luncheon of the two of us, but when I arrived Dr. Allen had invited ten colonels, all of whom deal with different phases of DOD training. Nine of the gentlemen were folksy, friendly, and mid-western. We simply discussed their teenage children and housing problems. The tenth colonel, seated on my right, was a sophisticated easterner who is presently assigned to the JCS. His name is Colonel Samuel N. Carrick. Col. Carrick mentioned that he attended project USEFUL last year. I was left with the impression that he is a shrewd and determined man.

I do not know why Dr. Allen arranged this fanfare but it was not an accident that Col. Carrick was given the protocol honors.
